Confluent Certified Developer for Apache Kafka Certification Examination Sample Questions (Q143-Q148):

NEW QUESTION # 143

You need to collect logs from a host and write them to a Kafka topic named 'logs-topic'. You decide to use Kafka Connect File Source connector for this task.

What is the preferred deployment mode for this connector?

- A. Parallel mode
- B. SingleCluster mode
- C. Distributed mode
- D. Standalone mode

Answer: D

Explanation:

Kafka Connect can run in standalone mode or distributed mode. For simple tasks like reading logs from a file on a single host, standalone mode is recommended.

From Kafka Connect User Guide:

"Standalone mode is useful when running connectors on a single machine (e.g., for development or simple deployments like log collection from a local file)." Distributed mode is preferred for scalability and fault tolerance but overkill for this use case.

Reference: Kafka Connect User Guide > Deployment Modes

NEW QUESTION # 144

Which of the following event processing application is stateless? (select two)

- A. Publish the top 10 stocks each day
- B. Find the minimum and maximum stock prices for each day of trading
- C. Read log messages from a stream and writes ERROR events into a high-priority stream and the rest of the events into a low-priority stream
- D. Read events from a stream and modifies them from JSON to Avro

Answer: C,D

Explanation:

Stateless means processing of each message depends only on the message, so converting from JSON to Avro or filtering a stream are both stateless operations

NEW QUESTION # 145

You need to correctly join data from two Kafka topics.

Which two scenarios will allow for co-partitioning?

(Select two.)

- A. Both topics have the same number of partitions.
- B. Both topics have the same retention time.
- C. Both topics have the same value schema.
- D. Both topics have the same key and partitioning strategy.

Answer: A,D

Explanation:

For Kafka Streams to perform joins, topics must be co-partitioned, meaning:

* They have the same number of partitions (A), and

* They use the same partitioning strategy (typically by key) (D)

From Kafka Streams Documentation > Joins:

"Co-partitioning is required for Kafka Streams joins. Topics must have the same number of partitions and use the same key-based partitioner." Value schema (C) and retention time (B) have no bearing on join compatibility.

Reference: Kafka Streams Concepts > Joins and Co-Partitioning

NEW QUESTION # 146

You use Kafka Connect with the JDBC source connector to extract data from a large database and push it into Kafka.

The database contains tens of tables, and the current connector is unable to process the data fast enough. You add more Kafka Connect workers, but throughput doesn't improve. What should you do next?

- A. Modify the database schemas to enable horizontal sharding.
- B. Increase the value of the connector's property `tasks.max`.
- C. Increase the number of Kafka partitions for the topics.
- D. Add more Kafka brokers to the cluster.

Answer: B

Explanation:

Increasing `tasks.max` allows the connector to create multiple tasks, each responsible for processing different tables or table partitions. If only one task is used, adding more workers has no effect.

From Kafka Connect JDBC Connector Docs:

"Use `tasks.max` to configure how many tasks are created for the connector. Each task can process a subset of the data."

* A and C help only if the bottleneck is in Kafka, not Connect.

* D is a large architectural change, not the first step.

Reference: Kafka Connect JDBC Connector Configuration

NEW QUESTION # 147

You have a topic `t1` with six partitions. You use Kafka Connect to send data from topic `t1` in your Kafka cluster to Amazon S3. Kafka Connect is configured for two tasks. How many partitions will each task process?

- A. 0
- B. 1
- C. 2
- D. 3

Answer: A

Explanation:

When using Kafka Connect with sink connectors (like S3 Sink), each task is assigned one or more topic partitions. The total number of partitions (6) is evenly distributed across the available tasks (2). Thus, each task will handle 3 partitions.

From Kafka Connect Documentation:

"Kafka Connect divides the topic partitions among available tasks. For example, a topic with six partitions and two tasks results in each task handling three partitions." Reference: Kafka Connect Concepts > Tasks and Partitions
