CCE Global Counselor Preparation Comprehensive Examination (CPCE) Sample Questions (Q160-Q165):

NEW QUESTION # 160

A primary benefit of converting raw scores to standard scores is that it facilitates

- A. simplicity in interpretation of test results.
- B. interpretation of the results relative to a normal distribution.
- C. statistical analyses having greater quantitative accuracy.

Answer: B

Explanation:

Converting raw scores to standard scores allows for the interpretation of test results in relation to a normal distribution. This transformation makes it possible to compare scores from different tests or populations on a common scale.

NEW QUESTION # 161

How does assessment and testing for children compare to that of adults?

- A. When testing and assessing children, the administrator must consider the child's developmental stage to ensure reliability of the instrument used, while developmental age is not a consideration when assessing adults.
- B. The testing and assessment of children is a much simpler process than that of testing and assessing adults, which can require multiple sessions over several days.
- C. Assessment of children must follow prescribed scripts, while an assessor of adults may ad lib questioning, depending upon earlier responses.

Answer: A

Explanation:

Assessment and testing of children must account for the child's developmental stage to ensure the instrument is reliable and valid for their age. For adults, developmental stage is typically less variable and thus less of a concern when selecting assessment tools.

"Considering developmental stage is crucial when assessing children, as it impacts the reliability and appropriateness of results."

NEW QUESTION # 162

What allows professional counselors to diagnose emotional and mental disorders?

- A. reading the DSM-5-TR
- B. adequate training
- C. a counseling class

Answer: B

Explanation:

Adequate training is required for professional counselors to diagnose emotional and mental disorders. This involves specialized education, supervised experience, and ongoing professional development in assessment and diagnosis, rather than simply attending a single class or reading diagnostic manuals. Proper training ensures ethical and accurate practice within the counselor's scope of competence.

Reference: Helwig, A. A. (2020). CPCE Study Guide and Review; American Counseling Association (ACA) Code of Ethics (2014).

NEW QUESTION # 163

Clients are advised of the risks and benefits of participation in a research study through a process known as

- A. informed consent.
- B. treatment contracting.
- C. debriefing disclosure.

Answer: A

Explanation:

Informed consent is the ethical process by which researchers inform potential participants about the risks, benefits, procedures, and purpose of a research study. It ensures that participation is voluntary and based on a clear understanding of what the study entails.

According to CPCE materials, "participants must be given sufficient information to make an informed, voluntary decision about participating in research." Reference: Helwig, A. A. (2020). CPCE Study Guide and Review; American Counseling Association

(ACA) Code of Ethics.

NEW QUESTION # 164

Counselors who are not effective in counseling members of minoritized groups typically

- A. use a variety of verbal and nonverbal communication styles.
- B. emphasize both individual and group differences.
- C. rely on rigid use of techniques and activities.

Answer: C

Explanation:

Ineffective counselors working with clients from minoritized groups often rely on rigid, inflexible use of counseling techniques and activities. This approach does not take into account cultural values, beliefs, and communication styles unique to diverse populations, resulting in poor rapport and outcomes. Effective multicultural counselors adapt their methods and understand the importance of cultural context.
