AVIXA Certified Technology Specialist Sample Questions (Q98-Q103):

NEW QUESTION # 98

A full range reinforcement system will TYPICALLY have a frequency response of:

- A. 100 Hz to 2000 Hz
- B. 10 Hz to 100 Hz
- C. 100 Hz to 15000 Hz
- D. 1000 Hz to 15000 Hz

Answer: C

Explanation:

A typical full-range reinforcement system is designed to reproduce the full spectrum of audible frequencies for speech and music. This range is generally between 100 Hz and 15,000 Hz, which covers the fundamentals and harmonics necessary for clear audio reproduction.

"Full-range systems are expected to reproduce the majority of the audio spectrum, usually from 100 Hz to 15 kHz, adequate for both speech and background music."

NEW QUESTION # 99

The amount of light emitted through a projection system lens is TYPICALLY specified and measured

- A. in lux.
- B. in footcandles.
- C. by its contrast ratio.
- D. in lumens.

Answer: D

Explanation:

The light output of a projection system is typically measured in lumens, which quantify the total amount of visible light emitted by the projector. Lumens measure the projector's brightness, making it a standard metric for comparing different projectors' output capacities.

* Lux is used to measure illuminance or the amount of light falling on a surface.

* Footcandles is another unit of illuminance, similar to lux but based on the imperial system.

* Contrast ratio describes the difference in luminance between the brightest white and the darkest black a projector can produce, not the brightness itself.

CTS Technology Specialist ReferenceAccording to CTS training materials, projector brightness should be specified in lumens, which provides a clear indication of the projector's suitability for different environments and screen sizes.

NEW QUESTION # 100

Referring to this mix-minus system, in which zone should zone C's microphones be the LOUDEST? Select the answer by clicking anywhere within the correct zone.

Answer:

Explanation:

Explanation:

Zone D

In a mix-minus audio system, the microphones within each zone are typically routed to the speakers in other zones, excluding the zone they are in. This setup helps to avoid feedback, as it minimizes the likelihood of a microphone picking up sound from a nearby speaker broadcasting the same audio. For Zone C's microphones to be the loudest, they should be directed to Zone D, which is adjacent to Zone C but not in the immediate vicinity of Zone C's microphones.

Mix-minus configurations are common in conference rooms and other multi-zone environments, where sound needs to be clear and localized without causing feedback.

CTS Technology Specialist Reference

The CTS guidelines on sound system design discuss mix-minus as an approach to achieve speech clarity and prevent feedback in multi-zone audio systems by broadcasting microphones to other zones rather than the one they are in.

NEW QUESTION # 101

An AV technician has been called to a lecture hall where the presenter complains of a loud squealing noise that makes their presentation inaudible. What is the BEST strategy to address the complaint?

- A. Position the microphone in front of the loudspeakers
- B. Position the microphone away from the presenter
- C. Increase the gain for the microphone
- D. Mute unused microphone channels on the audio mixer

Answer: D

Explanation:

The loud squealing noise is feedback, often caused by open (but unused) microphones picking up sound from the speakers and reintroducing it into the system. Muting unused channels eliminates that loop and is considered best practice during live sound reinforcement.

"Muting unused microphones prevents feedback loops and is an essential practice in live sound environments."

NEW QUESTION # 102

What is the PRIMARY advantage of preventive maintenance?

- A. system fail proof
- B. less equipment downtime
- C. better system performance
- D. upfront costs

Answer: B

Explanation:

The primary advantage of preventive maintenance is reducing equipment downtime. By regularly maintaining and servicing equipment, potential issues can be identified and resolved before they lead to failures. This proactive approach ensures that systems remain operational and reduces the likelihood of unexpected breakdowns, which can be costly and disruptive. Preventive maintenance helps in maintaining system reliability and efficiency, ultimately contributing to better performance and longer equipment lifespan.
