CWNP Certified Wireless Analysis Professional Sample Questions (Q54-Q59):

NEW QUESTION #54

You have been recently hired as the wireless network administrator for an organization spread across seven locations. They have deployed more than 100 APs, but they have not been managed in either an automated or manual process for more than 18 months. Given this length of time, what is one of the first things you should evaluate from a support perspective?

- A. The firmware revision
- B. The VLANs in use
- C. The channels in use
- D. The data rates allowed

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION #55

You're the WLAN administrator for a large retailer based at the HQ in New York. The London-based office has been complaining about WLAN disconnections around lunch time each day. You suspect this might be interference from the staff microwave, how might you test your theory from the New York office?

- A. Place one of the London APs into spectrum analyzer mode and monitor the situation over lunch time
- B. Access the microwave remotely and run a diagnostic check
- C. Ask a local member of staff to change the frequency of the microwave and see if the disconnections stop
- D. Ask a local member of staff to take some pictures of the microwave, including some close-ups of the door seal so that you can assess it

Answer: A

Explanation:

The best way to test the theory of microwave interference from the New York office is to use a remote spectrum analyzer. By placing one of the London APs into spectrum analyzer mode, you can capture and analyze the RF spectrum in the London office over lunch time. You can then look for any signs of microwave interference, such as high duty cycle, high amplitude, or frequency hopping on the 2.4 GHz band. This method does not require any physical access to the microwave or any changes to its frequency. References: [Wireless Analysis Professional Study Guide], Chapter 3: Spectrum Analysis, page 64

NEW QUESTION #56

You work as an SE for a value-added reseller. A client has an existing deployment of 802.11n Aps and wants to upgrade several BSSs to 802.11ac.

What hardware feature of some enterprise Aps may allow for this without a forklift upgrade?

- A. Adding an 802.11ac module to the existing APs
- B. Simply check the Enable 802.11ac checkbox in the web-based configuration interface
- C. Replace the antennas with 802.11ac antennas
- D. Converting the 802.11n radio to an 802.11ac radio through software

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION #57

You are analyzing a problem with a specific client adapter. The vendor specifications sheet does not provide detailed information. What tool can you use to provide the most detailed specification information in many such cases?

- A. Wi-Fi finder
- B. Spectrum analyzer
- C. FCC ID Search
- D. WLAN controller

Answer: C

NEW OUESTION #58

In which element of a Beacon frame would you look to identity the current HT protection mode in which an AP is operating?

- A. HT Capabilities Element
- B. HT Protection Element
- C. ERP Information Element
- D. HT Operations Element

Answer: D

Explanation:

The HT protection mode in which an AP is operating can be identified by looking at the HT Operations element in a Beacon frame. The HT Operations element is a part of the Beacon frame that contains information about the High Throughput (HT) capabilities and operation of an 802.11n BSS. The HT Operations element has a field called HT Protection, which indicates how the BSS protects its HT transmissions from interference or collisions with non-HT devices or BSSs. The HT Protection field can have four values: No Protection, Nonmember Protection, 20 MHz Protection, or Non-HT Mixed Mode. The other options are not correct, as they do not contain information about the HT protection mode. The HT Protection element does not exist, the ERP Information element is used for Extended Rate PHY (ERP) protection mode for 802.11g devices, and the HT Capabilities element is used for indicating the supported HT features of an individual device.
