- B. To establish and regularly review the effectiveness of risk management and internal controls
- C. To develop and regularly review IT measures and metrics
- D. To annually review and approval of IT projects to maximize business value

Answer: A

Explanation:

According to ITIL 4, the primary role of a governing body is to evaluate, direct, and monitor the organization's activities, including its service management. One of the key activities of the governing body is to establish and regularly review the goals cascade throughout the organization, which is a mechanism to align the objectives and activities of different levels of the organization with the overall vision and mission. The goals cascade helps to ensure that the organization is delivering value to its stakeholders and customers, and that the service management practices are aligned with the strategic direction and governance framework. Therefore, the best answer is A. To establish and regularly review the goals cascade throughout the organization. The other options are not the primary role of a governing body, but rather some of the possible activities or responsibilities that the governing body may delegate or oversee. For example, option B. To develop and regularly review IT measures and metrics, may be part of the monitoring activity of the governing body, but it is not the main purpose of its role. Option C. To annually review and approval of IT projects to maximize business value, may be part of the directing activity of the governing body, but it is not the only or the most frequent task that it performs. Option D. To establish and regularly review the effectiveness of risk management and internal controls, may be part of the evaluating activity of the governing body, but it is not the core function of its role. - A. Customer orientation
- B. Team Culture
- C. Employee satisfaction management
- D. Positive communication

Explanation:

Customer orientation is an approach to business that focuses on assisting customers in achieving their goals, as opposed to adopting a sales oriented methodology<sup>12</sup>. It involves understanding the needs, expectations, and preferences of the customers and delivering value that meets or exceeds them. Customer orientation also implies adapting to the feedback and behavior of the customers and tailoring the service accordingly.

Therefore, when a service support agent adjusts support actions following a call from a frustrated user, they are demonstrating customer orientation, as they are trying to resolve the user's issue in a way that suits their emotional state and satisfaction level.

Customer orientation is one of the key concepts in ITIL 4, as it helps to create value co-creation and drive stakeholder value<sup>34</sup>. It is also aligned with the ITIL guiding principles of focus on value, collaborate and promote visibility, and keep it simple and practical<sup>34</sup>.
