NEW QUESTION # 174

A company has a multi-tiered web application on AWS. During a recent spike in traffic, one of the primary relational databases on Amazon RDS could not serve all the traffic. Some read queries for repeatedly accessed items failed, so users received error messages.

What can be done to minimize the impact on database read queries MOST efficiently during future traffic spikes?

- A. Use Amazon S3 to cache database query results.
- B. Use Amazon ElastiCache in front of the primary database to cache data.
- C. Use Amazon RDS as a custom origin for Amazon CloudFront.
- D. Use local storage and memory on Amazon EC2 instances to cache data.

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 175

What AWS products and features can be deployed by Elastic Beanstalk? Choose 3 answers

- A. RDS Instances
- B. Auto scaling groups
- C. Elastic IP addresses
- D. SQS Queues
- E. Elastic Load Balancers
- F. Route 53 hosted zones

Answer: A,B,E

NEW QUESTION # 176

A company wants to implement authentication for its new REST service using Amazon API Gateway. To authenticate the calls, each request must include HTTP headers with a client ID and user ID. These credentials must be compared to authentication data in an Amazon DynamoDB table.

What MUST the company do to implement this authentication in API Gateway?

- A. Implement an AWS Lambda authorizer that references the DynamoDB authentication table
- B. Create a model that requires the credentials, then grant API Gateway access to the authentication table
- C. Implement an Amazon Cognito authorizer that references the DynamoDB authentication table
- D. Modify the integration requests to require the credentials, then grant API Gateway access to the authentication table

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 177

A developer is working on an e-commerce website. The developer wants to review server logs without logging in to each of the application servers individually. The website runs on multiple Amazon EC2 instances, is written in Python, and needs to be highly available. How can the developer update the application to meet these requirements with MINIMUM changes?

- A. Scale down the application to one larger EC2 instance where only one instance is recording logs
- B. Set up centralized logging by using Amazon OpenSearch Service, Logstash, and OpenSearch Dashboards
- C. Install the unified Amazon CloudWatch agent on the EC2 instances. Configure the agent to push the application logs to CloudWatch
- D. Rewrite the application to be cloud native and to run on AWS Lambda, where the logs can be reviewed in Amazon CloudWatch

Answer: C

Explanation:

- * Centralized Logging Benefits: Centralized logging is essential for operational visibility in scalable systems, especially those using multiple EC2 instances like our e-commerce website. CloudWatch provides this capability, along with other monitoring features.
- * CloudWatch Agent: This is the best way to send custom application logs from EC2 instances to CloudWatch. Here's the process:
- * Install the CloudWatch agent on each EC2 instance.
- * Configure the agent with a configuration file, specifying:
 - * Which log files to collect.
 - * The format in which to send logs to CloudWatch (e.g., JSON).
 - * The specific CloudWatch Logs log group and log stream for these logs.
- * Viewing and Analyzing Logs: Once the agent is pushing logs, use the CloudWatch Logs console or API:
 - * View and search the logs across all instances.
 - * Set up alarms based on log events.
 - * Use CloudWatch Logs Insights for sophisticated queries and analysis.
