CrowdStrike Falcon Administrator Sample Questions (Q210-Q215):

NEW QUESTION # 210
How can a API client secret be viewed after it has been created?

- A. Selecting "show secret" within the 3-dot dropdown menu will reveal the secret for the selected api client
- B. The API client secret must be reset or a new client created as the secret cannot be viewed after it has been created
- C. Within the API management page, API client secrets can be accessed within the "edit client" functionality
- D. The API client secret can be provided by support via direct email request from a Falcon Administrator

Answer: B

Explanation:
The way an API client secret can be viewed after it has been created is that the API client secret must be reset or a new client created as the secret cannot be viewed after it has been created.
As explained in question 137, an API client secret is only displayed once during creation for security reasons. If you lose or forget your API client secret, you cannot view it again in the Falcon console. You have two options to resolve this issue: either reset your API client secret or create a new API client. Resetting your API client secret will generate a new secret for your existing API client, which will invalidate any previous secret. Creating a new API client will generate a new API client ID and secret, which will require you to update any applications or scripts that use the Falcon APIs.

The other options are either incorrect or not related to network containment.
