CMAA Certified Construction Manager (CCM) Sample Questions (Q36-Q41):

NEW QUESTION # 36

The CM is tasked with analyzing the schedule variance of a project on a regular basis. The contractor's recent payment application includes a dramatic increase in earned hours than what was budgeted for the project. This MOST likely indicates

- A. the contractor is making more profit than anticipated.
- B. the project is ahead of schedule.
- C. the project is behind schedule.
- D. the contractor will be submitting change orders.

Answer: C

Explanation:

In earned value or earned hours analysis, "earned hours" represent how much work has actually been completed (in units of schedule effort) compared to what was budgeted over time. If a contractor claims a significantly higher number of earned hours than budget expected at that point, that discrepancy often indicates the contractor is catching up for prior slippage or back-loading progress and may be masking a delay. In other words, the project is likely behind schedule: the contractor is accelerating or shifting resources to show a jump in performance, sometimes to avoid triggering delay claims or escalating scrutiny.

While CMAA's formal SOP does not provide a one-sentence treatment of this particular scenario, standard earned value (EV) and schedule variance (SV) theory (used in CMAA's time management domain) supports that an unexpected inflation in earned hours relative to budget can signal a retrospective correction for lagging progress, rather than true ahead-of-schedule condition.

NEW QUESTION # 37

Which delivery method, if not properly coordinated, introduces the strong possibility of work scope being duplicated or even omitted?

- A. Design Build (DB)
- B. CM at Risk (CMAR)
- C. Multi-Prime
- D. Design-Bid-Build (DBB)

Answer: C

Explanation:

The CMAA Standards of Practice explain that Multi-Prime delivery involves multiple contractors each working under separate contracts directly with the Owner. The absence of a single point of contractual coordination can result in scope overlaps or gaps if the CM or Owner does not maintain tight coordination among all primes.

As noted in the SOP:

"The potential for duplication or omission of work scope is greatest in a multi-prime contracting arrangement, where the responsibility for interfaces between contracts must be clearly defined and managed by the Construction Manager." This risk is unique to the Multi-Prime method because, unlike CMAR or Design-Build, there is no single entity responsible for all construction coordination.

NEW QUESTION # 38

In what decade was the new occupation of "construction manager" created to fulfill an identified need?

- A. 1930s

- B. 1950s
- C. 1980s
- D. 1970s

Answer: D

Explanation:

The Construction Management Association of America (CMAA) identifies the 1970s as the decade when the professional discipline of Construction Management (CM) formally emerged in the United States.

The CMAA's historical overview explains:

"Construction Management became recognized as a distinct professional service in the 1970s, when owners began seeking specialized expertise to manage increasingly complex design and construction projects." During this period, large public and private sector projects required oversight separate from design and contracting roles, leading to the development of the CM profession and eventually to the founding of CMAA in 1982.

NEW QUESTION # 39

The current construction market is extremely busy, and the trade/sub-contractors are being very selective in the projects they bid on. What options do owners have when the marketplace is vastly different from when their project was a concept to when its ready to be advertised?

- A. Consider the impacts of current market conditions and revise project strategy.
- B. Advertise the project and award to lowest bidder.
- C. Postpone advertising for one year.
- D. Market conditions should not be a factor in when a project is advertised.

Answer: A

Explanation:

CMAA encourages the CM and owner to respond adaptively to changing conditions in the market rather than rigidly follow plans that become unrealistic. The owner and CM should continuously monitor external factors, such as contractor availability, market pricing escalation, and risk, and adapt the procurement and strategy accordingly. In a wildly different market, proceeding blindly (as in A or C) could lead to failed bids or cost overruns. Postponement (option B) may be an option, but doing so for a fixed period (one year) is inflexible and risky. The prudent option, consistent with CMAA's advocacy for adaptable project management and risk mitigation, is to consider the impacts of current market conditions and revise the project strategy.

NEW QUESTION # 40

ACM agent has assisted the owner by creating contractual safety requirements. By reviewing the contractor's safety submittals, the CM

- A. certifies that the submittals cover all site conditions that may occur.
- B. accepts responsibility and liability for site safety.
- C. approves the contractors fall protection program.
- D. determines if the contract specifications have been met.

Answer: D

Explanation:

The CMAA Standards of Practice, Chapter 7 - Safety Management states that the Construction Manager's role in reviewing safety submittals is limited to ensuring that the contractor's safety program complies with the contractual and regulatory requirements, not to certify or approve safety programs.

CMAA clarifies:

"The Construction Manager's review of safety submittals is for the purpose of verifying that the contractor's plan meets the requirements set forth in the contract documents. The CM does not assume or accept responsibility for site safety." Therefore, the CM's duty is review and determination of contractual compliance, not approval or certification, and certainly not assumption of liability.
