UiPath Specialized AI Associate Exam (2023.10) Sample Questions (Q207-Q212):

NEW QUESTION # 207
What are the out-of-the-box model types available in AI Center?

- A. Pre-trained, fine-tunable, and reviewed.
- B. Pre-trained, custom training, and reviewed.
- C. Pre-trained, custom training, and fine-tunable.
- D. Custom training, fine-tunable, and reviewed.

Answer: C

Explanation:
According to the UiPath documentation, AI Center provides three types of out-of-the-box model types that can be used for different purposes and scenarios1:
Pre-trained: These are models that are already trained on a large and diverse dataset and can be used as-is for inference or prediction. They do not require any additional data or training from the user. Examples of pre- trained models are Language Detection, Sentiment Analysis, and Question Answering.
Custom training: These are models that allow the user to train them on their own data using the AI Center UI or API. They require the user to upload a dataset, configure the training parameters, and monitor the training progress and results. Examples of custom training models are Image Classification, Text Classification, and Named Entity Recognition.
Fine-tunable: These are models that are pre-trained on a general dataset but can be further trained or fine- tuned on a specific dataset provided by the user. They offer the best of both worlds: the benefit of using a pre- trained model and the flexibility of customizing it to the user's needs. Examples of fine-tunable models are Object Detection, Text Summarization, and Language Translation.

NEW QUESTION # 210
What will be the behavior of the process if, during design time, the property ValidateUnconnectedNodes is set to True on a flowchart and a Log Message activity from this flowchart is not connected to any other node?

- A. A warning message is displayed in the Output section of Studio, indicating the presence of unconnected activities.
- B. The flowchart will display an error indicating the presence of unconnected activities, but only when validated using the Workflow Analyzer.
- C. The flowchart undergoes successful validation with no errors displayed, but an exception will occur during the workflow's runtime.
- D. The flowchart displays an error indicating that some activities are not connected to the others within the flowchart.

Answer: D

Explanation:
Reference: UiPath Flowchart Validation

NEW QUESTION # 211

What will be the outcome when executing a Try Catch activity with a sequence placed within the Try section and no Catches section present?

- A. In case of an exception, a System Exception will be caught by default.
- B. Process execution will terminate only if the sequence throws an exception.
- C. Due to a validation error, the workflow will not execute.
- D. The sequence will result in a runtime error.

Answer: B

Explanation:
Comprehensive and Detailed Explanation From Exact Extract:
If a Try Catch activity has no defined Catch blocks and the Try section throws an exception, the exception is not caught and will propagate, potentially terminating the workflow.
However, if no exception occurs, the process continues normally.
The activity does not result in validation errors just because Catch blocks are empty.
