ISACA Certified Information Systems Auditor Sample Questions (Q120-Q125):

NEW QUESTION # 120

Which of the following should be identified FIRST during the risk assessment process?

- A. Legal requirements
- B. Information assets

- C. Existing controls
- D. Vulnerability to threats

Answer: B

Explanation:

Based on the information provided, the first step in the risk assessment process should be to identify C: Information assets. Information assets are the most important component of the risk assessment process, as they are the basis for assessing the potential risks to the organization. Identifying information assets allows the auditor to assess the value and criticality of the assets and determine the level of risk associated with them. Once the information assets have been identified, the auditor can then move on to assess the vulnerability of the assets to threats, evaluate existing controls, and consider any relevant legal requirements.

NEW QUESTION # 121

Company.com has contracted with an external consulting firm to implement a commercial financial system to replace its existing in-house developed system. In reviewing the proposed development approach, which of the following would be of GREATEST concern?

- A. Prototyping is being used to confirm that the system meets business requirements.
- B. Acceptance testing is to be managed by users.
- C. Not all business functions will be available on initial implementation.
- D. A quality plan is not part of the contracted deliverables.

Answer: D

Explanation:

A quality plan is an essential element of all projects. It is critical that the contracted supplier be required to produce such a plan. The quality plan for the proposed development contract should be comprehensive and encompass all phases of the development and include which business functions will be included and when. Acceptance is normally managed by the user area, since they must be satisfied that the new system will meet their requirements. If the system is large, a phased-in approach to implementing the application is a reasonable approach. Prototyping is a valid method of ensuring that the system will meet business requirements.

NEW QUESTION # 122

An IT balanced scorecard is PRIMARILY used for:

- A. monitoring risk in IT-related processes
- B. allocating IT budget and resources
- C. evaluating the IT project portfolio
- D. measuring IT strategic performance

Answer: D

NEW QUESTION # 123

From a control perspective, the PRIMARY objective of classifying information assets is to:

- A. identify which assets need to be insured against losses.
- B. ensure access controls are assigned to all information assets.
- C. assist management and auditors in risk assessment.
- D. establish guidelines for the level of access controls that should be assigned.

Answer: D

Explanation:

Explanation/Reference:

Explanation:

Information has varying degrees of sensitivity and criticality in meeting business objectives. By assigning classes or levels of sensitivity and criticality to information resources, management can establish guidelines for the level of access controls that should be assigned. End user management and the security administrator will use these classifications in their risk assessment process to assign a given class to each asset.
