When does an asset's lifecycle begin?

- A. Upon the asset deployment
- B. When an asset request is fulfilled
- C. When the asset is procured
- D. Upon the asset's request

Answer: D

Explanation:

According to the ServiceNow Hardware Asset Management documentation, the asset lifecycle defines and describes the series of stages involved in managing an asset throughout its useful life. The first stage of the asset lifecycle is the request stage, where stakeholders get together, discuss their objectives, and determine which assets are needed and why. The culmination of this stage is a formal request for an asset. The asset lifecycle begins when the asset is requested, not when it is procured, deployed, or fulfilled.

Classes are represented as tables in the ServiceNow database. Which is the base asset class?

- A. alm_asset

- B. alm_hardware
- C. cmdb_hardware
- D. cmdb_asset

Answer: A

Explanation:

* Classes are represented as tables in the ServiceNow database that define the attributes and relationships of a specific type of record¹

* The base asset class is the alm_asset table, which contains the common fields and properties for all types of assets, such as hardware, software, consumable, etc.²

* The alm_asset table is extended by other asset classes, such as alm_hardware, alm_software, alm_consumable, etc., which add more specific fields and properties for each asset type²

* The cmdb_asset table is not a class, but a view that joins the alm_asset table and the cmdb_ci table, which is the base configuration item (CI) class³

* The cmdb_hardware table is a CI class, not an asset class, that contains the common fields and properties for all types of hardware CIs, such as computers, devices, network equipment, etc.⁴ References: 1: Tables and Classes - ServiceNow 2: Asset [alm_asset] table - ServiceNow 3: Asset and Configuration Item [cmdb_asset] view - ServiceNow 4: Hardware [cmdb_ci_hardware] class - ServiceNow
