NEW QUESTION # 109

A company owns and operates hotels, restaurants, and stores.

When the staff orders materials from the purchasing department, the requests are not directed to the correct approvers.

The staff requires a new field named Approver from which they can select the appropriate approver. The field must include the following options:

- * Hotel manager
- * Restaurant manager
- * Store manager
- * Purchasing manager

You need to create the Approver field in the Item table by using an AL extension.

Which three actions should you perform in sequence? To answer, move the appropriate actions from the list of actions to the answer area and arrange them in the correct order.

Answer:

Explanation:

Explanation:

To create the Approver field in the Item table using an AL extension, perform the following actions in sequence:

- * Create an enum object named Approver and include all options.
- * Create a table extension object for an Item table with an Approver field of enum type named Approver in the fields section.
- * Create a page extension object that extends the Item Card object. Add the field to the fields section.

Build and extend tables: To add a new field to an existing table in Business Central using AL extension, you need to define an enumeration (enum) with the possible values for the new field. Then, you create a table extension object where you add the new field and specify its type as the enum you created. This adds the field to the Item table. Finally, you modify the user interface to display the new field by creating a page extension for the Item Card page and adding the new field to it.

NEW QUESTION # 110

A company has a Business Central online environment.

You need to create an HTTP GET request that connects to an external REST service.

Which solution should you use?

- A. `HttpContent` data type variable
- B. `Codeunit 1299 "Web Request Helper"`
- C. `Codeunit 1297 "Http Web Request Mgt."`
- D. `HttpClient` data type variable
- E. `Codeunit 5459 "JSON Management"`

Answer: D

Explanation:

To create an HTTP GET request that connects to an external REST service in a Business Central online environment, the solution to use is the `HttpClient` data type variable (E). The `HttpClient` data type in AL language is designed for sending HTTP requests and receiving HTTP responses from a resource identified by a URI. This makes it the ideal choice for interfacing with external REST services, as it provides the necessary methods and properties to configure and execute HTTP GET requests, handle the responses, and process the data returned by the REST service.

This approach is more direct and flexible compared to using specific codeunits like "Web Request Helper" (B) or "Http Web Request Mgt" (D), which might not provide the same level of control or specificity needed for RESTful interactions.

NEW QUESTION # 111

You are developing a test application to test the posting process of a sales order. You must provide the following implementation:

- * Specify the value of post options (dialog: Ship, Invoice, Ship & Invoice) as Invoice.
- * Perform calculations and values checking.

You need to complete the development of the test codeunit.

Which methods should you use? To answer, move the appropriate methods to the correct implementation. You may use each method once, more than once, or not at all. You may need to move the split bar between panes or scroll to view content.

NOTE: Each correct selection is worth one point.

Answer:

NEW QUESTION # 112

You create an 'AddItemsToJson' procedure and publish it.

The procedure fails to run.

You need to fix the errors in the code.

For each of the following statements, select Yes if the statement is true. Otherwise, select No.

Answer:

Explanation:

Explanation:

* In line 13, replace the Add method with Insert. = NO

* In line 15, replace the WriteTo method with ReadFrom = NO

* Change the ItemObject variable type from JsonObject to JsonToken. = NO

* Move line 08 in the beginning of REPEAT .. UNTIL. = YES

The provided code is intended to serialize a list of items from the Item table into a JSON array format. Here is a breakdown of the code and the necessary corrections:

* In line 13, "ItemsArray.Add(ItemObject)": This line is correctly using the Add method to add the ItemObject to the ItemsArray. The Add method is the correct method to use for adding items to a JSONArray. Therefore, there is no need to replace Add with Insert.

* In line 15, "ItemsArray.WriteTo(RequestText)": The WriteTo method is used correctly to serialize the ItemsArray into a JSON formatted string and store it in the RequestText variable. The ReadFrom method is used for the opposite operation, i.e., to deserialize a JSON formatted string into a JSONArray, which is not the goal in this context. Hence, no change is needed here.

* Change the ItemObject variable type from JsonObject to JsonToken: The ItemObject variable is intended to hold JSON objects representing individual items, making JsonObject the appropriate type.

JsonToken is not a type used in this context within AL for Business Central, and thus the variable type should remain as JsonObject.

* Move line 08, "Clear(ItemObject)": This line should be moved inside the repeat loop to ensure that the ItemObject is cleared for each item in the loop. Placing it before the repeat would only clear it once before the loop starts, which could lead to incorrect serialization as the previous item's properties would not be cleared from the ItemObject.

The logic for serializing records into JSON is a common operation when interfacing with APIs or web services in Business Central, and the pattern shown in the code is typical for such operations.
