NEW QUESTION # 48

What is required when deploying co-resident VMs by using Cisco UCM?

- A. Provide a guaranteed bandwidth of 10 Mbps.
- B. Avoid hardware oversubscription.
- C. Deploy the VMs to a server running Cisco UCM.
- D. Ensure that applications will perform QoS.

Answer: B

Explanation:

When deploying co-resident VMs by using Cisco UCM, it is important to avoid hardware oversubscription.

This means that you should not assign more resources to the VMs than the physical hardware can provide. For example, if you have a server with 16 CPU cores, you should not assign more than 16 CPU cores to the VMs.

If you oversubscribe the hardware, the VMs will not be able to get the resources they need to run properly.

This can lead to performance problems and even outages.

To avoid hardware oversubscription, you should carefully plan your VM deployments. You should also monitor the performance of the VMs to make sure that they are not overusing the resources.

Here are some additional tips for deploying co-resident VMs by using Cisco UCM:

- * Use a virtualization platform that supports Cisco UCM.
- * Make sure that the VMs have the correct operating system and software installed.
- * Configure the VMs to use the correct network settings.
- * Monitor the performance of the VMs to make sure that they are running properly.

When Mobile and Remote Access is used, which feature is available to Cisco Jabber clients outside an enterprise?

- A. Cisco TelePresence
- B. visual voicemail
- C. VPN links
- D. many-to-one traversal connections

Answer: B

Explanation:

When Mobile and Remote Access (MRA) is used with Cisco Jabber, remote users can access Cisco Unified Communications services without a VPN. This includes features like voice and video calling, instant messaging, presence, and visual voicemail.

Visual voicemail allows users to see a list of their voicemails, listen to them, and manage them directly from the Cisco Jabber client.

MRA works through Cisco Expressway-E and Expressway-C, ensuring secure remote connectivity while maintaining enterprise-level security and compliance.

Which Cisco Unified Communications Manager service parameter should be enabled to disconnect a multiparty call when the call initiator hangs up?

- A. Drop Ad Hoc Conference
- B. Block OffNet to OffNet Transfer
- C. Enterprise Feature Access code for conference
- D. H.225 Block Setup destination

Answer: A

The service parameter settings specify conditions under which an ad hoc conference gets dropped.
