- B. Solution Architect, Project Manager, Business Analyst
- C. Business Analyst, Infrastructure Engineer, Project Manager
- D. Automation Developer, Solution Architect, Client SME

Answer: B

Explanation:
During the Process Analysis stage, the following three key roles from the Implementation Team are involved:
* Solution Architect
* Project Manager
* Business Analyst
Each role brings a unique perspective and responsibility to the analysis. The business analyst focuses on understanding the business goals and documenting the As-Is process. The solution architect evaluates the process from a technical standpoint to identify automation opportunities and potential roadblocks. The project manager oversees the planning and timelines to ensure alignment with the broader project goals.
This collaborative analysis results in a comprehensive and well-documented Process Definition Document (PDD), which becomes the foundation for the subsequent design and development phases. This stage is critical to ensuring that the correct processes are chosen for automation and that the team is aligned on the scope and expectations.

- A. Analyzes the As-Is process and defines the To-Be process
- B. Handles infrastructure provisioning

- D. Approves solution architecture

Answer: A

Explanation:
During the Process Analysis stage, the Automation Business Analyst is responsible for analyzing the current (As-Is) process and defining the future (To-Be) process to be automated. This includes mapping out each step, understanding business rules, identifying inefficiencies, and collaborating with stakeholders to envision how automation will change the process.
The Business Analyst also works closely with the Solution Architect to prepare the Process Definition Document (PDD) and ensures that the process is well-documented for the developers to understand and automate.
