EMT Practice Scenarios

Name: Chloe Smith

Date: 01/01/2024

Here are several practice scenarios for emergency services providers. Review these scenarios with colleagues or team members. Focus on identifying key information, discussing critical factors, and considering appropriate responses based on your knowledge and experience.

As you analyze each situation, assess the associated risks, identify any additional information that may be necessary, and consider potential safety concerns. Be sure to address issues such as managing bystanders and apply any relevant protocols or best practices in your decision-making process.

Psychiatric emergency

You are dispatched to a home where a 32-year-old male has reportedly been exhibiting signs of severe agitation and confusion. He has been experiencing increasing anxiety and delusional thoughts over the past few days. Family members report that he has a history of mental health issues, including depression, but has recently stopped taking his prescribed medications. The patient is shouting incoherently and is resisting attempts to engage with him. There are no known weapons present, but the situation is escalating, and there are bystanders present in the vicinity.

Considerations:

Ensure scene safety and call for backup if needed. Assess the patient's airway, breathing, and circulation.

Attempt verbal deescalation.

Obtain vital signs and check for signs of distress.

If necessary, involve law enforcement or administer sedation.

Transport to an appropriate facility and document all actions taken.

NREMT Emergency Medical Technicians Exam Sample Questions (Q35-Q40):

NEW QUESTION # 35

Which of the following would directly increase public safety in the community?

- A. Giving tours of the ambulance station.
- B. Participating in the local parade.
- C. Conducting child safety seat clinics.
- D. Establishing a Public Information Officer.

Answer: C

Explanation:

The correct answer is B because conducting child safety seat clinics has a direct injury-prevention effect in the community. NREMT-aligned EMS operations includes the EMT role in public education and injury prevention, and child passenger safety programs directly reduce the risk of injury and death in motor vehicle crashes by helping caregivers properly restrain children. This makes it the option that most directly improves community public safety, rather than simply improving visibility or public relations.

NEW QUESTION # 36

You observe your partner as he completes a patient care report. He documents giving a medication that you know he did not administer. You should first

- A. contact your supervisor.
- B. report it to the medical director.
- C. inform the patient's family.
- D. ask him to correct his report.

Answer: D

Explanation:

The correct answer is D because the first appropriate action is to address the error directly and immediately by having your partner correct the patient care report. EMS documentation guidance used in national EMT education is clear that the PCR must be accurate and factual, and specifically states that providers must not chart treatments that were not actually given. For example, official EMT instructional guidance says that if a treatment such as oxygen was overlooked, do not document that it was given. Because the false entry is being made at the time of documentation, the first step is to stop the inaccurate charting and get it corrected. If your partner refuses, then the issue should be escalated through the chain of command. Accurate PCR documentation is part of patient care, legal documentation, and quality assurance in EMS.

NEW QUESTION # 37

A 10-year-old patient is in hypovolemic shock. Which of the following signs would be early indicators of shock for this patient? Select the three correct options.

- A. Respiratory rate
- B. Capillary refill
- C. Blood pressure
- D. SpO₂
- E. Heart rate
- F. Blood glucose level

Answer: A,B,E

Explanation:

Children compensate for shock through increased heart rate, respiratory rate, and vasoconstriction, which delays blood pressure drop. Therefore:

* Tachycardia is often the first sign

* Prolonged capillary refill (> 2 seconds) is an early indicator

* Tachypnea supports perfusion

Blood pressure is a late sign in pediatric shock. SpO₂ is helpful but does not specifically indicate shock.

Blood glucose may be abnormal in other metabolic conditions but is not an early marker of volume loss.

NEW QUESTION # 38

A 44-year-old patient with diabetes feels weak and dizzy. The EMT provides oral glucose and transports the patient to the hospital, where the patient recovers. The EMT tells their partner they did not provide the patient with a blanket because they felt the patient was wasting their time. What best describes the action the EMT took?

- A. Breach of ethics
- B. Breach of duty
- C. Negligence
- D. Battery

Answer: A

Explanation:

The correct answer is B. Breach of ethics.

This scenario describes inappropriate attitude and professional behavior by the EMT, not a failure that caused patient harm.

The EMT:

Provided appropriate medical care (oral glucose and transport)

The patient recovered

No harm resulted from not providing a blanket

However, the EMT's statement reflects:

Disrespect toward the patient

Lack of compassion

Unprofessional conduct

Why B is correct (Breach of ethics):

NREMT standards emphasize professionalism and patient respect:

EMTs are expected to treat all patients with dignity, empathy, and respect. Ethical violations occur when providers demonstrate unprofessional attitudes or disregard for patient well-being. This situation reflects a violation of ethical standards, not legal negligence.

Why the other options are incorrect:

A). Breach of duty: Requires failure to provide care that leads to harm; care was appropriately provided.

C). Negligence: Requires duty, breach, causation, and damages; no patient harm occurred.

D). Battery: Involves unauthorized physical contact; not applicable here.

Exact Extracts:

"EMS providers must demonstrate professionalism and respect toward all patients."

"Ethical conduct includes compassion and appropriate attitude."

"Negligence requires proof of harm resulting from a breach of duty."

NEW QUESTION # 39

What should you anticipate when you go in for a deposition?

- A. An administrative law judge will hear the testimony.
- B. Attorneys for all sides will be present.
- C. No formal exhibits or documents will be allowed.
- D. Your testimony will be informal and not admissible in court.

Answer: B

Explanation:

A deposition is a formal legal proceeding in which sworn testimony is taken prior to trial. NREMT education on EMS operations, documentation, and legal responsibilities emphasizes that EMTs may be required to participate in depositions as part of civil or criminal cases involving patient care.

Option C is correct because attorneys for all involved parties are typically present during a deposition.

These may include attorneys representing the plaintiff, defendant, EMS agency, or insurance providers. The EMT provides sworn testimony under oath, and the deposition may later be used in court.

Option A is incorrect because deposition testimony is admissible in court under many circumstances.

Option B is incorrect because depositions are not presided over by a judge; they are conducted by attorneys.

Option D is incorrect because exhibits such as patient care reports, protocols, or photographs may be introduced during a deposition.

NREMT stresses the importance of accurate documentation, professionalism, and honesty, as EMTs are legally accountable for their actions and statements.
