F5 BIG-IP Administration Data Plane Configuration Sample Questions (Q32-Q37):

NEW QUESTION # 32

Which persistence profile would be the most appropriate to ensure an HTTP web request connects to the same pool member?
(Choose one answer)

- A. Hash persistence
- B. Destination address
- C. Cookie persistence
- D. SSL persistence

Answer: C

Explanation:

For HTTP-based applications, cookie persistence is the most appropriate and commonly recommended persistence method.

According to the BIG-IP Administration: Data Plane Configuration documentation:

* Cookie persistence inserts or uses an HTTP cookie to maintain session affinity.

* It operates at Layer 7 (HTTP) and is application-aware.

* It allows persistence to be maintained even when multiple clients are behind a NAT device.

Why the other options are incorrect:

* A. Destination address Destination address persistence is generally used for inbound traffic patterns such as firewall or proxy scenarios.

* B. Hash persistence Hash persistence is less granular and not HTTP-specific.

* C. SSL persistence SSL persistence is typically used when SSL session IDs are reused and is less reliable than cookies for HTTP applications.

Correct Resolution:

Using cookie persistence ensures that HTTP web requests are consistently directed to the same pool member.

NEW QUESTION # 33

The BIG-IP Administrator has to provide encrypted communication between the users and the virtual server they access. Multiple hostnames are configured in DNS with the same IP address. Which profile type and setting in the profile should be used? (Choose one answer)

- A. Server SSL, Server Name
- B. Server SSL, Client Name
- C. Client SSL, Server Name
- D. Client SSL, Client Name

Answer: C

Explanation:

To provide encrypted communication between users and a virtual server, the BIG-IP system acts as a transparent SSL/TLS proxy. The administrative configuration required for this is a Client SSL profile.

When multiple hostnames (FQDNs) are associated with a single IP address, the system must determine which SSL certificate to present to the client during the initial TLS handshake. This is achieved using an extension of the TLS protocol called Server Name Indication (SNI).

The configuration logic is as follows:

* Profile Type: The Client SSL profile is responsible for terminating the SSL connection from the client (the user) to the BIG-IP system.

* The Setting: Within the Client SSL profile (under the "Advanced" view), there is a field specifically called Server Name. By entering the specific hostname (e.g., www.example.com) in this field, the BIG-IP system can match the hostname requested by the client in the ClientHello message to the correct profile.

* Implementation: The administrator typically creates multiple Client SSL profiles-one for each hostname-and assigns them all to the same virtual server. One of these profiles must be designated as the Default SSL Profile for SNI to handle requests where the client does not provide a hostname or provides one that does not match any specific profile.

By using the Client SSL profile and the Server Name setting, the BIG-IP system ensures that each user receives the correct certificate for the specific site they are trying to reach, even though all sites share a single virtual server IP.

NEW QUESTION # 34

During a high-demand event, the BIG-IP Administrator needs to limit the number of new connections per second to a Virtual Server. What should be applied?

- A. Connection Limit
- B. Connection Rate Limit
- C. HTTP Compression profile
- D. OneConnect profile

Answer: B

Explanation:

Connection rate limits restrict how many new connections are accepted per second, protecting application resources.

NEW QUESTION # 35

What is the status of a pool member when manual resume is enabled and a health check first fails and then passes?

- A. Available (Disabled)
- B. Available (Enabled)
- C. Offline (Disabled)
- D. Offline (Enabled)

Answer: C

Explanation:

With manual resume enabled, BIG-IP does not automatically return a pool member to service after recovery. The member remains offline until manually re-enabled.

NEW QUESTION # 36

A BIG-IP Administrator needs to configure health monitors for a pool containing HTTP, HTTPS, FTP, and SSH services. Which configuration ensures accurate member status?

- A. HTTP and HTTPS only
- B. All monitors with Availability Requirement = at least one
- C. All monitors with Availability Requirement = all
- D. ICMP + TCP with all

Answer: B

Explanation:

Using "at least one" ensures each member is marked up based on its relevant service monitor.
