AWS Certified Solutions Architect – Associate SAA-C03 Exam Questions and Answers

Exam Question 1

A company is migrating from an on-premises infrastructure to the AWS Cloud. One of the company's applications stores files on a Windows file server farm that uses Distributed File System Replication (DFSR) to keep data in sync. A solutions architect needs to replace the file server farm.

Which service should the solutions architect use?

- A. Amazon EFS
- B. Amazon FSx
- C. Amazon S3
- D. AWS Storage Gateway

Correct Answer

B. Amazon FSx

Exam Question 2

A company has a legacy application that processes data in two parts. The second part of the process takes longer than the first, so the company has decided to rewrite the application as two microservices running on Amazon ECS that can scale independently.

How should a solutions architect integrate the microservices?

- A. Implement code in microservice 1 to send data to an Amazon S3 bucket. Use S3 event notifications to invoke microservice 2.
- B. Implement code in microservice 1 to publish data to an Amazon SNS topic. Implement code in microservice 2 to subscribe to this topic.
- C. Implement code in microservice 1 to send data to Amazon Kinesis Data Firehose. Implement code in microservice 2 to read from Kinesis Data Firehose.
- D. Implement code in microservice 1 to send data to an Amazon SQS queue. Implement code in microservice 2 to process messages from the queue.

Correct Answer

C. Implement code in microservice 1 to send data to Amazon Kinesis Data Firehose. Implement code in microservice 2 to read from Kinesis Data Firehose.

Exam Question 3

A company captures clickstream data from multiple websites and analyzes it using batch processing. The data is loaded nightly into Amazon Redshift and is consumed by business

Amazon AWS Certified Solutions Architect - Associate (SAA-C03) Sample Questions (Q472-Q477):

NEW QUESTION # 472

When you run a DB Instance as a Multi-AZ deployment, the "_____" serves database writes and reads

- A. primary
- B. secondary
- C. backup
- D. stand by

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 473

An application is experiencing performance issues based on increased demand. This increased demand is on read-only historical records that are pulled from an Amazon RDS-hosted database with custom views and queries. A solutions architect must improve performance without changing the database structure.

Which approach will improve performance and MINIMIZE management overhead?

- A. Deploy Memcached on Amazon EC2 and cache the data for the application.
- B. Deploy Amazon DynamoDB, move all the data, and point to DynamoDB.
- C. Deploy Amazon ElastiCache (Redis OSS) and cache the data for the application.
- D. Deploy Amazon DynamoDB Accelerator (DAX) on Amazon RDS to improve cache performance.

Answer: C

Explanation:

AWS recommends using Amazon ElastiCache as an in-memory caching layer in front of relational databases such as Amazon RDS to offload read traffic and significantly improve performance for read-heavy workloads.

ElastiCache (Redis OSS) provides microsecond latency and can cache the results of frequent or expensive queries without requiring any change to the underlying database schema or engine. This directly addresses the requirement to improve performance without changing the database structure and with minimal operational overhead, because ElastiCache is a fully managed service (patching, failure detection, replacement, etc., are handled by AWS).

Option A (DynamoDB) would require a full data migration and application changes, including schema and query rewrites.

Option C (Memcached on EC2) introduces additional management overhead for EC2 instances (scaling, patching, HA).

Option D (DAX) is a caching layer only for DynamoDB and cannot be used directly with Amazon RDS.

NEW QUESTION # 474

An application runs on an Amazon EC2 instance that has an Elastic IP address in VPC A. The application requires access to a database in VPC B. Both VPCs are in the same AWS account.

Which solution will provide the required access MOST securely?

- A. Configure a VPC peering connection between VPC A and VPC B.
- B. Make the DB instance publicly accessible. Assign a public IP address to the DB instance.
- C. Launch an EC2 instance with an Elastic IP address into VPC B. Proxy all requests through the new EC2 instance.
- D. Create a DB instance security group that allows all traffic from the public IP address of the application server in VPC A.

Answer: A

Explanation:

Explanation

A VPC peering connection is a networking connection between two VPCs that enables users to route traffic between them using private IP addresses. Instances in either VPC can communicate with each other as if they are within the same network. A VPC peering connection can be created between VPCs in the same or different AWS accounts and Regions¹. By configuring a VPC peering connection between VPC A and VPC B, the solution can provide the required access most securely.

A: Create a DB instance security group that allows all traffic from the public IP address of the application server in VPC A. This solution will not provide the required access most securely, as it involves exposing the DB instance to the public internet and relying on a single IP address for access control².

C: Make the DB instance publicly accessible. Assign a public IP address to the DB instance. This solution will not provide the required access most securely, as it involves exposing the DB instance to the public internet and allowing any source to connect to it².

D: Launch an EC2 instance with an Elastic IP address into VPC B. Proxy all requests through the new EC2 instance. This solution will not provide the required access most securely, as it involves creating an additional resource and configuring a proxy server that may introduce latency and complexity³.

NEW QUESTION # 475

An online retailer has a series of flash sales occurring every Friday. Sales traffic will increase during the sales only and the platform will handle the increased load. The platform is a three-tier application. The web tier runs on Amazon EC2 instances behind an Application Load Balancer.

Amazon CloudFront is used to reduce web server load, but many requests for dynamic content must go to the web servers. What should be done to the web tier to reduce costs without impacting performance or reliability?

- A. Use Spot Instances.
- B. Implement Amazon ElastiCache.
- C. Use T-series instances
- D. Purchase scheduled Reserved Instances.

Answer: D

NEW QUESTION # 476

Some of the company's customers are retrieving records frequently, leading to an increase in costs for the company. The company wants to limit retrieved requests in the future. The company also wants to ensure that if one customer reaches its retrieval limit other customers will not be affected.

Which solution will meet these requirements?

- A. Limit DynamoDB read throughput on the table to an amount that results in the maximum cost that the company is willing to incur.
- B. Set up AWS Budgets. Monitor the usage of API Gateway and DynamoDB. Configure an alarm to provide an alert when the cost exceeds a certain threshold each month.
- C. Set up server-side throttling limits for API Gateway.
- D. Set up a usage plan for API Gateway. Implement throttling limits for each customer, and distribute API keys to each customer.

Answer: B
