NEW QUESTION # 16

What is the most cost-effective way to avoid EMF issues within the Computer room?

- A. Reducing the voltage in the computer room
- B. Install TUVapproved shielding material
- C. Create a distance between the EMF source and the ICT equipment / copper network cabling
- D. Reducing the temperature in computer room to 18° C / 64° Fahrenheit

Answer: C

Explanation:

NEW QUESTION # 17

An optical fiber cable comes with the specifications 50/125 um.

What do the numbers represent?

- A. The first number represents the required distance to single-phase power cabling; the second number represents the required distance to three-phase cabling.
- B. The first number represents the diameter of the core; the second number represents the actual diameter cable including the buffer and jacket.
- C. The first number represents the diameter of the core; the second number represents the diameter of the cladding in microns.

- D. The first number represents the distance for a 10 Gb/s connection; the second number represents the distance for a 1 Gb/s connection.

Answer: C

Explanation:

Optical fiber cables are composed of a core, a cladding, and a coating. The core is the central part of the fiber that carries the light signal. The cladding is the layer surrounding the core that reflects the light back into the core and prevents signal loss. The coating is the protective layer that covers the cladding and provides mechanical strength and environmental protection. The specifications of an optical fiber cable indicate the dimensions of the core and the cladding in microns (#m), which are one millionth of a meter. For example, a 50/125 #m cable has a core diameter of 50 #m and a cladding diameter of 125 #m. The coating diameter is usually 250 #m, but it is not part of the specifications.

- A. Termination
- B. Obstacle
- C. Hindrance
- D. Failure

Answer: D

Explanation:

According to the EPI Data Centre Professional (CDCP) Preparation Guide, failure is defined as "the termination of the ability of a product to perform its required function" (page 9). Failure can occur due to various reasons, such as wear and tear, design flaws, human errors, environmental factors, or external events.

Failure can affect the availability, reliability, and performance of a product, system, or service.

NEW QUESTION # 19

What should be considered when using a direct air handler for a data centre?

- A. Temperature, humidity and contamination of the outdoor environment.
- B. The availability of three-phase power due to the high power requirements of these air handler units.
- C. Space available inside the computer rooms as the air handler space requirement for the inside the Computer room is quite large.
- D. Cost of operation as power consumption on these units tend to be higher compared to traditional air conditioning technology.

Answer: A

Explanation:

Direct air handlers are a type of cooling system that use outdoor air to cool the data centre. They draw in fresh air from outside, filter it, and supply it to the data centre at the desired temperature and humidity level. Direct air handlers can reduce the energy consumption and operating costs of data centres by eliminating the need for mechanical cooling or refrigeration. However, they also have some challenges and limitations that need to be considered. One of the main factors to consider when using direct air handlers for data centres is the temperature, humidity and contamination of the outdoor environment. Depending on the location and climate of the data centre, the outdoor air may not always be suitable for cooling the data centre. For example, if the outdoor air is too hot, too humid, or too polluted, it may not provide enough cooling capacity, or it may damage the IT equipment or cause corrosion. Therefore, direct air handlers need to have sensors and controls to monitor the outdoor air quality and adjust the airflow accordingly. They may also need to have backup cooling systems or supplementary cooling devices, such as evaporative coolers or heat exchangers, to cope with extreme weather conditions or peak loads.

NEW QUESTION # 20

Which Class of Fires involves ordinary combustible materials such as paper, wood and cloth?

- A. Class K
- B. Class D
- C. Class B
- D. Class A

Answer: D

Explanation:

According to the CDCP® Preparation Guide, Class A fires involve ordinary combustible materials such as paper, wood and cloth. These materials leave behind ash or embers when they burn. Class A fires can be extinguished by water or other cooling agents that reduce the temperature of the fuel below its ignition point.
