NEW QUESTION # 83

Refer to the exhibit.

Identified in red on a Gantt chart, what are the tasks called whose changes may affect the overall timeline of a project?

- A. Baselines
- B. Milestones
- C. Critical Path

Answer: C

Explanation:

In Adobe Workfront, and in general project management, the Critical Path refers to the sequence of tasks that directly impacts the project's overall timeline. Tasks on the critical path are marked in red on a Gantt chart to indicate that any delay or change to these tasks will affect the entire project's completion date. These tasks are essential for maintaining the project schedule and ensuring timely delivery. Baselines are used for comparison against the current progress, and Milestones mark significant checkpoints but do not necessarily affect the project timeline if they are delayed.

NEW QUESTION # 84

Which project status will default the automatic Project Condition to "On Time"?

- A. On Hold
- B. Planning
- C. Idea

Answer: C

Explanation:

In Adobe Workfront, the automatic project Condition is controlled by the project's Condition Type when it is set to Progress Status. Adobe documentation explains that Project Condition is a visual indicator of how a project is progressing and is automatically calculated from the project's Progress Status, which is based on task progress and project dates. The documentation also states that projects in certain statuses are always marked On Target, regardless of task dates or progress. These statuses include Idea, Requested, Approved, and Rejected. In Workfront terminology, the Progress Status On Time maps to the project Condition On Target. Among the answer choices, only Idea is listed by Adobe as a status that always defaults the automatic project Condition to On Target/On Time behavior. Planning and On Hold do not have this same default rule; On Hold projects can still show as At Risk or In Trouble. Therefore, the correct answer is A. Idea.

NEW QUESTION # 85

A team wants to combine structured project planning with the flexibility to manage tasks in sprints. Which Workfront methodology allows for this hybrid approach?

- A. Kanban
- B. Scrum
- C. Waterfall

Answer: B

Explanation:

In Adobe Workfront, Scrum supports this hybrid approach because teams can keep structured project planning in Workfront while managing selected tasks as agile stories within iterations, commonly called sprints. Adobe documentation explains that Scrum teams use a backlog and then plan an iteration by selecting tasks or issues from that backlog. Adobe also notes that many organizations use the words sprint and iteration interchangeably, and that iteration planning occurs after the backlog has been groomed and prioritized. This allows planned project tasks to remain part of a Workfront project while the team manages execution through sprint-based agile practices. Waterfall is structured and sequential, but it does not provide sprint-based task management. Kanban provides flexible visual flow through a board, but it is not centered on fixed sprint or iteration planning. Therefore, the Workfront methodology that combines structured planning with sprint flexibility is A. Scrum.

NEW QUESTION # 86

Which element is defined as a reportable variable determined by the relationship between the planned, projected, and estimated dates of the project?

- A. Condition
- B. Progress Status
- C. Status

Answer: A

Explanation:

In Adobe Workfront, Condition is the reportable variable that is determined by the relationship between the Planned, Projected, and Estimated Dates. The Condition field reflects whether a project is On Target, At Risk, or In Trouble based on how its actual progress aligns with the planned schedule and dates. It allows project managers and stakeholders to quickly assess the health of the project.

NEW QUESTION # 87

The art director is reviewing and approving a proof and has requested that they only get email notifications for a new proof or version. What Email alert option should be assigned to them on the workflow?

- A. Disabled and Notify recipients about this proof is selected
- B. Disabled and Notify recipients about this proof is not selected
- C. Decisions and Notify recipients about this proof is selected
- D. Decisions and Notify recipients about this proof is not selected

Answer: A

Explanation:

For the art director to only receive email notifications about new proofs or versions, the option "Disabled and Notify recipients about this proof is selected" is the correct choice. This ensures that they are not inundated with notifications about every comment or decision made but are alerted when a new proof or version is uploaded for review.

This approach optimizes the notification settings based on the user's request, providing a more focused and less overwhelming email experience, which is often crucial for roles such as creative directors who manage multiple proofs and versions.
