Nurses who meet these requirements are encouraged to take the exam and earn the right to use the CCRN-P certification credential.

AACN Critical Care Nursing Exam Sample Questions (Q111-Q116):

NEW QUESTION # 111

A patient with restrictive cardiomyopathy is ambulating and begins to complain of fatigue and chest pain. A nurse should expect initial treatment to be aimed at:

- A. Increasing the force of contraction
- B. Decreasing cardiac workload
- C. Increasing systemic vascular resistance
- D. Decreasing the preload

Answer: B

Explanation:

Restrictive cardiomyopathy is characterized by impaired ventricular filling due to stiff ventricular walls.

The primary issue is diastolic dysfunction, not contractility. As a result, the focus is on reducing myocardial oxygen demand and workload, often with activity restriction, beta blockers, and afterload reduction.

"Management of restrictive cardiomyopathy centers on decreasing cardiac workload and optimizing preload, as the heart cannot relax properly. Inotropic agents are not typically effective." (Referenced from CCRN Pediatric - Direct Care: Cardiovascular, Cardiomyopathies)

NEW QUESTION # 112

A child is heading to the OR for internal injuries. The parents refuse blood products due to religious beliefs. What should the nurse do first?

- A. Encourage the involvement of the family's minister
- B. Page the social worker to provide support to the parents
- C. Speak with the parents to determine their specific concerns
- D. Consult the ethics committee to help convince the parents

Answer: C

Explanation:

The first step is always clarification and respectful communication. Before escalating, the nurse should explore the family's concerns and beliefs directly. This promotes patient- and family-centered care, which is the cornerstone of ethical pediatric practice.

"Engaging in open dialogue with families about their values and concerns is the first step in navigating ethical dilemmas involving consent." (Referenced from CCRN Pediatric - Professional Caring and Ethical Practice: Advocacy and Ethics)

NEW QUESTION # 113

A father of a 16-year-old who has sickle cell anemia tells a nurse that his family is scheduled to go camping this summer. He asks what activity would be appropriate for his child. The nurse would suggest:

- A. Collecting logs to be used for campfire
- B. Fresh water swimming
- C. Motorboat ride around the lake.
- D. Biking around the lake

Answer: C

Explanation:

Explanation: The activity doesn't require a high amount of oxygen. The goal is to prevent sickling, therefore activities which may lead to increased cellular metabolism and increased tissue hypoxia should be avoided.

NEW QUESTION # 114

A nurse preceptor and new nurse are caring for a 16-year-old patient following a crush injury. The lab report is significant for a creatine kinase (CK) level of 150 U/L and the patient's urine is dark yellow.

Vital signs are:

* BP: 95/60

* HR: 115

* RR: 22

* Temp: 100.5°F (38.1°C)

Which of the following statements by the new nurse is most correct?

- A. "The clinical presentation looks like rhabdomyolysis."
- B. "This is the result of an inflammatory response."
- C. "The patient is demonstrating signs of MODS."
- D. "This is indicative of decompensated septic shock."

Answer: A

Explanation:

Rhabdomyolysis is characterized by elevated CK levels, tea-colored urine, and signs of myoglobinuria after muscle injury (such as crush injuries). This condition can lead to acute kidney injury and electrolyte disturbances.

"Crush injuries can lead to rhabdomyolysis, evidenced by muscle pain, elevated creatine kinase, and dark urine due to myoglobin. Early identification and hydration are critical to prevent renal complications." (Referenced from CCRN Pediatric - Direct Care: Multisystem, Trauma and Rhabdomyolysis)

NEW QUESTION # 115

A child possibly has pinworm infestation because he reported that he first felt:

- A. scaly skin patches
- B. maculopapular rash
- C. anal itching
- D. loose bowel movement

Answer: C

Explanation:

Explanation: With enterobiasis, the adult worm lays her eggs around the anal opening, producing an irritation and thus an itch.
