IAPP Certified Artificial Intelligence Governance Professional Sample Questions (Q66-Q71):

NEW QUESTION # 66

What type of organizational risk is associated with AI's resource-intensive computing demands?

- A. Environmental risk.
- B. Security risk.
- C. Third-party risk.
- D. People risk.

Answer: A

Explanation:

AI's resource-intensive computing demands pose significant environmental risks. High-performance computing required for training and deploying AI models often leads to substantial energy consumption, which can result in increased carbon emissions and other environmental impacts. This is particularly relevant given the growing concern over climate change and the environmental footprint of technology. Organizations need to consider these environmental risks when developing AI systems, potentially exploring more energy-efficient methods and renewable energy sources to mitigate the environmental impact.

NEW QUESTION # 67

CASE STUDY

Please use the following answer the next question:

Good Values Corporation (GVC) is a U.S. educational services provider that employs teachers to create and deliver enrichment courses for high school students. GVC has learned that many of its teacher employees are using generative AI to create the enrichment courses, and that many of the students are using generative AI to complete their assignments.

In particular, GVC has learned that the teachers they employ used open source large language models ("LLM") to develop an online tool that customizes study questions for individual students. GVC has also discovered that an art teacher has expressly incorporated the use of generative AI into the curriculum to enable students to use prompts to create digital art.

GVC has started to investigate these practices and develop a process to monitor any use of generative AI, including by teachers and students, going forward.

All of the following may be copyright risks from teachers using generative AI to create course content EXCEPT?

- A. Content created by an LLM may be protectable under U.S. intellectual property law.
- B. Students must expressly consent to this use of generative AI.
- C. Generative AI is generally trained using intellectual property owned by third parties.
- D. Generative AI often creates content without attribution.

Answer: B

Explanation:

All of the options listed may pose copyright risks when teachers use generative AI to create course content, except for students must expressly consent to this use of generative AI. While obtaining student consent is essential for ethical and privacy reasons, it does not directly relate to copyright risks associated with the creation and use of AI-generated content.

Reference: The AIGP Body of Knowledge discusses the importance of addressing intellectual property (IP) risks when using AI-generated content. Copyright risks are typically associated with the use of third-party data and the lack of attribution, rather than the consent of users.

NEW QUESTION # 68

You asked a generative AI tool to recommend new restaurants to explore in Boston, Massachusetts that have a specialty Italian dish made in a traditional fashion without spinach and wine. The generative AI tool recommended five restaurants for you to visit.

After looking up the restaurants, you discovered one restaurant did not exist and two others did not have the dish.

This information provided by the generative AI tool is an example of what is commonly called?

- A. Model collapse.
- B. Hallucination.

- C. Overfitting.
- D. Prompt injection.

Answer: B

Explanation:

In the context of AI, particularly generative models, "hallucination" refers to the generation of outputs that are not based on the training data and are factually incorrect or non-existent. The scenario described involves the generative AI tool providing incorrect and non-existent information about restaurants, which fits the definition of hallucination. Reference: AIGP BODY OF KNOWLEDGE and various AI literature discussing the limitations and challenges of generative AI models.

NEW QUESTION # 69

According to the GDPR, what is an effective control to prevent a determination based solely on automated decision-making?

- A. Establish a human-in-the-loop procedure.
- B. Provide a right to review automated decision.
- C. Define suitable measures to safeguard personal data.
- D. Provide a just-in-time notice about the automated decision-making logic.

Answer: A

Explanation:

GDPR requires effective controls like human-in-the-loop procedures to prevent decisions based solely on automated processing without human intervention.

NEW QUESTION # 70

All of the following issues are unique for proprietary AI model deployments EXCEPT?

- A. The cost of AI chips.
- B. The necessity of performing conformity assessments.
- C. The acquisition of training data.
- D. The potential for bias.

Answer: D

Explanation:

Bias is a common risk across both proprietary and open-source models, and not unique to proprietary deployments. All AI systems - regardless of origin - require evaluation for fairness, accuracy, and representativeness.

From the AI Governance in Practice Report 2024:

"Bias, discrimination and fairness challenges are present in both open and closed models, regardless of how the model is sourced." (p. 41)
