CompTIA Data+ Exam Sample Questions (Q34-Q39):

NEW QUESTION # 34

A data analyst needs to create a report that anticipates the number of calls received daily. Which of the following is the best statistical method to use?

- A. Predictive
- B. Inferential
- C. Diagnostic
- D. Descriptive

Answer: A

Explanation:

Predictive analysis uses historical data and statistical models to forecast future outcomes. Since the goal is to anticipate the number of calls that will be received each day, predictive analysis is the most appropriate method.

NEW QUESTION # 35

Before distributing a report, a marketing analyst notices that the total distinct promotional email messages is less than the combined total of emails sent. Which of the following is the most likely reason for this difference?

- A. The aggregation did not include all emails.
- B. The report failed to run properly.
- C. A recipient received duplicate emails.
- D. Some emails were not delivered.

Answer: C

NEW QUESTION # 36

An organization sees an increase in requests to view its online dashboard. Providing access is time-consuming. Which of the following actions should the data team take to provide access and ensure the security of the online portal?

- A. Set up a specific help desk for users to request access.

- B. Enable open access to the portal.
- C. Implement a self-service portal with user credentials.
- D. Designate one person to handle user requests for portal access.

Answer: C

Explanation:

A self-service portal with user credentials allows users to request and access the dashboard independently while maintaining security through authentication and access controls. This approach reduces administrative effort, scales efficiently as requests increase, and ensures that only authorized users can access the online portal.

NEW QUESTION # 37

A data analyst worked on a project that contained medical content and a list of requirements. Which of the following are most likely the reasons the privacy team flagged the analyst's report? (Choose two.)

- A. The exclusion of data occurred only after a participant invoked a right to withdraw.
- B. The collection of data was stored according to protocols that are too strict.
- C. The retention policy did not allow data to be used beyond one year after the project.
- D. The directive did not mention that it was vital for PHI to be encrypted in the data set.
- E. The method used to anonymize identifying values in the data was insufficient.
- F. The practice of data masking was irreversible and all PII was lost.

Answer: D,E

Explanation:

Medical data contains highly sensitive information, so insufficient anonymization of identifying values can leave individuals vulnerable to re-identification and violate privacy requirements.

Additionally, PHI (Protected Health Information) should be encrypted to protect confidentiality and meet regulatory and security expectations. These issues would be likely reasons for a privacy team to flag the report.

NEW QUESTION # 38

Which of the following best describes the method used to combine files, software, and libraries for use on various operating systems and environments?

- A. Code repository
- B. Package manager
- C. Virtual machine
- D. Containerization

Answer: D

Explanation:

Containerization bundles applications with their dependencies, including files, libraries, and runtime components, enabling consistent execution across different operating systems and environments.
