- B. In DSDM, one person must hold several roles
- C. One DSDM roles does NOT necessarily mean one person
- D. All DSDM roles should be shared

Answer: C

Explanation:

In DSDM, it is true that one DSDM role does not necessarily mean one person. This allows for flexibility in assigning roles based on the project's needs and the individuals' skills and capacities. It is possible for one person to hold multiple roles or for a role to be shared among several people, depending on what is most effective for the project.

NEW QUESTION # 147

NEW QUESTION # 148

Which of the following helps to build competence in collaboration?

Rewarding individual efforts

No blame culture

Asking for help

Setting clear goals

- A. 2, 3, 4
- B. 1, 2, 4
- C. 1, 3, 4
- D. 1, 2, 3

Answer: A

Explanation:

AgilePM advocates collaboration as a core value, stressing "working together towards a shared goal." Competence in collaboration grows in cultures that remove fear, encourage learning, and align on purpose. A no-blame culture fosters psychological safety so issues surface early and teams can inspect and adapt without defensiveness. Asking for help is encouraged through active business involvement and empowered, multi-disciplinary teams; it reduces decision latency and improves quality. Setting clear goals-e.g., business outcomes, Definition of Done, and prioritized objectives-creates shared focus, enabling constructive cooperation and trade-offs. By contrast, rewarding individual efforts tends to optimize locally, fragment accountability, and discourage knowledge sharing; AgilePM favors team-based achievement and collective ownership. Agile guidance repeatedly links effective collaboration with facilitation, frequent reviews/demonstrations, and visible progress measures that are team-centered, not individualized. Therefore, the options that genuinely build collaboration are 2, 3, and 4, making D correct.
