A custom alert policy is configured for a VM named Calm_3_8_VM to generate a Warning alert if memory usage exceeds 90% or is below 30% for 10 minutes.

What action can be taken to prevent this alert policy from creating multiple alerts within a 48-hour period if the 90% threshold is crossed multiple times?

- A. Set Ignore all anomalies between to 90% and 100%.
- B. Select highest value in Trigger alert if conditions persist for.
- C. Select the Auto resolve alerts checkbox and click Save.
- D. After alert occurs, uncheck Enable Policy box for 48 hours.

Answer: C

Explanation:

The correct answer is A. Select the Auto resolve alerts checkbox and click Save.

When an alert policy is configured based on a static threshold, it will generate an alert each time the condition is met unless it has been auto-resolved or manually acknowledged. By enabling Auto resolve alerts, the system will automatically clear the alert once the metric falls back within the acceptable range. This prevents duplicate alerts when the threshold is exceeded repeatedly within a short timeframe (e.g., multiple times over 48 hours).

Explanation of Incorrect Options:

- * B (Disable policy): Not scalable or operationally sound.
- * C (Ignore anomalies): Applies only to behavioral anomalies, not static thresholds.
- * D (Trigger duration): Increases delay before alerting but does not suppress repeated alerts.

UI Location in Image:

"Auto resolve alerts" is visible just below "Impact Type."

* Excerpt: "Enable 'Auto resolve alerts' to ensure alerts are cleared automatically once conditions normalize, avoiding duplicate alerts."
