Veeam Certified Engineer v12 Sample Questions (Q22-Q27):

NEW QUESTION # 22

A critical database used for company operations cannot lose more than 15 minutes worth of data transactions. Which rule is being defined?

- A. It is a recovery point objective. It defines the maximum acceptable loss of transaction activity.
- B. It is a recovery point objective. It identifies when the restore must be completed after the failure occurs.
- C. It is a recovery time objective. It identifies the limit to how many minutes of transactions can be lost.
- D. It is a recovery time objective. It identifies how fast the database must be recovered after a failure.

Answer: A

Explanation:

The requirement that no more than 15 minutes of transaction data may be lost defines your Recovery Point Objective (RPO) - i.e. the maximum acceptable data-loss window.

NEW QUESTION # 23

A customer has an Amazon Simple Storage Service compatible object storage repository in their secondary site. Backup jobs on the main site are configured with weekly full backups to a hardened repository with XFS and a retention of 14 days. The requirement is to keep only backups older than 14 days but no more than 30 days in the Amazon S3 repository.

What must the systems engineer do to meet these requirements?

- A. Increase the retention to 30 days and set the Amazon S3 repository as the Capacity Tier of the Scale-out Backup Repository, with Move mode set to 14 days.
- B. Create a backup copy job (Periodic mode) to the Amazon S3 repository with 14 days retention, scheduled daily.
- C. Set the Amazon S3 repository as the Capacity Tier of the Scale-out Backup Repository, with Move mode set to 30 days.
- D. Create a backup copy job (Immediate mode) to the Amazon S3 repository with 30 days retention, scheduled every 2 weeks.

Answer: A

Explanation:

Using move mode at 14 days with 30 day retention means backups are removed after 30 days still, but only 'move' to the S3 after 14 days.

NEW QUESTION # 24

An environment is using Veeam Agent for Microsoft Windows and has Microsoft Exchange 2016 with regular Database Availability Groups (DAGs) configured. What option is required to properly back up the databases?

- A. Exchange Processing
- B. Standalone server
- C. Failover Cluster
- D. Advanced Exchange Backup

Answer: A

Explanation:

Explanation

To properly back up Microsoft Exchange databases in an environment using Veeam Agent for Microsoft Windows, you would need to configure "Exchange Processing." This option allows Veeam to interact with the Exchange server, ensuring that it quiesces the databases and transaction logs correctly to create consistent backups of the Exchange data. This is essential for the proper backup and recovery of Exchange databases, especially in environments with Database Availability Groups (DAGs) where data consistency is critical.

NEW QUESTION # 25

What additional metadata is captured when backing up vCloud Director VMs?

- A. vApp metadata
- B. vDC metadata
- C. Backup metadata
- D. Replica metadata

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 26

A 3-node Microsoft SQL Always On cluster is running in a VMware environment.

The RPOs are:

* 1 day for the cluster nodes

* 15 minutes for the log files

How should the cluster be backed up?

- A. Veeam Enterprise Plug-in for Microsoft SQL - Install the Plug-in on each node in cluster. Use Microsoft SQL Server Management Studio to create the backups.
- B. Veeam Agent for Windows - Create a managed by agent backup policy for all 3 nodes. Use a log shipping server to back up the transaction logs every 15 minutes.
- C. Veeam Agent for Windows - Create a managed by server backup job for all 3 nodes. Use Application-Aware Processing to back up the database once a day.
- D. Veeam Backup and Replication - Create a VMware backup job, include the 3 nodes of the cluster. Use Application-Aware Processing to back up the transaction logs every 15 minutes.

Answer: D

Explanation:

For backing up a 3-node Microsoft SQL Always On cluster running in a VMware environment with the specified Recovery Point Objectives (RPOs), the most suitable option is A: Veeam Backup and Replication - Create a VMware backup job, include the 3 nodes of the cluster. Use Application-Aware Processing to back up the transaction logs every 15 minutes. This approach allows for the entire SQL cluster nodes to be backed up as part of a regular VM backup job, which satisfies the 1-day RPO for the cluster nodes. The Application-Aware Processing feature of Veeam Backup & Replication ensures that the SQL databases are in a consistent state during backup. Moreover, this feature allows for the transaction logs to be backed up separately at a more frequent interval, in this case, every 15 minutes, meeting the 15-minute RPO requirement for the log files. This dual approach ensures comprehensive protection for both the SQL cluster nodes and the critical transaction logs, aligning with the specified RPOs.
