Which of the following are features of a managed Splunk Cloud environment?

- A. Availability of premium apps, SSO integration, maximum concurrent search limit of 20.
- B. 20GB daily maximum data ingestion, no SSO integration, no availability of premium apps.
- C. Availability of premium apps, SSO integration, IP address whitelisting and blacklisting.
- D. Availability of premium apps, no IP address whitelisting or blacklisting, deployed in US East AWS region.

Answer: C

Explanation:

In a managed Splunk Cloud environment, several features are available to ensure that the platform is secure, scalable, and meets enterprise requirements. The key features include:

* Availability of premium apps: Splunk Cloud supports the installation and use of premium apps such as Splunk Enterprise Security, IT Service Intelligence, etc.

* SSO Integration: Single Sign-On (SSO) integration is supported, allowing organizations to leverage their existing identity providers for authentication.

* IP address whitelisting and blacklisting: To enhance security, managed Splunk Cloud environments allow for IP address whitelisting and blacklisting to control access.

Given the options:

* Option C correctly lists these features, making it the accurate choice.

* Option A incorrectly states "no IP address whitelisting or blacklisting," which is indeed available.

NEW QUESTION # 80

Which of the following tasks is not managed by the Splunk Cloud administrator?

- A. Forwarding events to Splunk Cloud.
- B. Creating users and roles.
- C. Managing knowledge objects.
- D. Upgrading the indexer's Splunk software.

Answer: D

Explanation:

In Splunk Cloud, several administrative tasks are managed by the Splunk Cloud administrator, but certain tasks related to the underlying infrastructure and core software management are handled by Splunk itself.

Upgrading the indexer's Splunk software is the correct answer. Upgrading Splunk software on indexers is a task that is managed by Splunk's operations team, not by the Splunk Cloud administrator. The Splunk Cloud administrator handles tasks like forwarding events, managing knowledge objects, and creating users and roles, but the underlying software upgrades and maintenance are managed by Splunk as part of the managed service.
