How does Cisco XDR perform threat prioritization by using its visibility across multiple platforms?

- A. By assigning priority based on the detection platform
- B. By using a fixed priority system for all platforms
- C. By correlating detection risk and asset value at risk
- D. By prioritizing threats based on their frequency across platforms

Answer: C

Explanation:
Cisco Extended Detection and Response (XDR) leverages telemetry from Cisco Secure Endpoint, Secure Email, Secure Network Analytics, and other sources to correlate threat detections with contextual data, such as asset value and business impact. This allows Cisco XDR to prioritize threats not only by the risk of the detection but also by the importance of the affected asset-essentially assessing the risk to business. This dynamic and context-aware prioritization method enables security teams to address the most impactful threats first.
