NEW QUESTION # 154

What is the function of mirror neurons during infancy?

- A. to imitate the behaviors that infants see and observe in others
- B. to release growth hormones and enhance the infant's physical and motor skill development
- C. to enhance the infant's ability to think and pay attention

Answer: A

Explanation:

Mirror neurons are specialized brain cells that activate both when an individual performs an action and when they observe the same action performed by someone else. In infancy, mirror neurons are crucial for imitation, allowing infants to learn new behaviors and skills by watching others. This process is foundational to social learning and the development of communication and empathy.

NEW QUESTION # 156

Which theory of group counseling would most closely align with a group leader's use of role reversal and future projection techniques?

- A. psychodrama
- B. psychodynamic
- C. psychoanalytic

Answer: A

Explanation:

Psychodrama is a group counseling theory developed by J. L. Moreno that employs techniques such as role reversal and future projection. These techniques involve clients enacting scenarios, assuming roles, and exploring future possibilities within a dramatic framework to gain insight and resolve conflicts. "Role reversal and future projection are hallmark interventions in psychodrama groups, providing opportunities for experiential learning and catharsis." Reference: Helwig, A. A. (2020). NEW QUESTION # 157

One significant outgrowth of the Education for All Handicapped Children Act (Public Law 94-142), in 1975, that was significant for children with disabilities was the educational practice known as

- A. vocational rehabilitation planning.
- B. mainstreaming.
- C. differential school counseling.

Answer: B

Explanation:

The Education for All Handicapped Children Act (Public Law 94-142) of 1975 was a landmark law that mandated free and appropriate public education for children with disabilities. A significant educational practice resulting from this law was mainstreaming, which refers to placing children with disabilities in regular education classrooms for at least part of the school day, whenever possible. This practice is intended to promote inclusion and equal access to educational opportunities.
