HCLSoftware Certified Administrator- HWA 10.2 Sample Questions (Q605-Q610):

NEW QUESTION # 605

Scenario: When deploying the master domain manager with Docker in HCL Workload Automation 10.2, what special consideration applies if installing both primary and backup?

- A. Use shared volumes for all
- B. Enable gateway on both simultaneously
- C. Configure HADR before start
- D. Run one component at a time to allow schema creation
- E. Scale using helm first

Answer: D

Explanation:

The database schema is automatically created on container start for the server; to avoid conflicts when deploying both master and backup, start and configure one at a time, ensuring proper database initialization.

NEW QUESTION # 606

Scenario: To ensure seamless user access during automatic failover in a high-availability HCL Workload Automation 10.2 setup, what additional component is recommended in front of master and backups?

- A. DB2 HADR configuration
- B. Centralized security file
- C. External event processor
- D. HTTP load balancer
- E. Shared disk for plan files

Answer: D

Explanation:

Configuring an HTTP load balancer directs engine connections to the current active master transparently; during automatic failover, the load balancer routes traffic to the new master without requiring users to update Dynamic Workload Console engine connections or single-sign-on configurations.

NEW QUESTION # 607

A pharmaceutical company workload in HCL Workload Automation 10.2 uses variable tables for regulatory-compliant data paths that change quarterly, but carry forward causes stale references post-plan fence. To customize workload with variable tables that auto-expire after 7 days unless explicitly renewed, which variable table attribute controls lifecycle with dependency validation?

- A. VT REG.PATH="q1/data" @EXPIRE(days=7) @VALIDATE(dep)
- B. @VAR REG PATH="q1/data" expire=1w dependency.validate=true
- C. TABLE REG PATH="q1/data" LIFETIME=7d AUTOEXPIRE=true CHECKDEPS
- D. #VT REG PATH="q1/data" ttl=604800s renew=manual deps=check

Answer: A

Explanation:

The @EXPIRE(days=7) @VALIDATE(dep) attributes on VT REG.PATH="q1/data" enforce automatic table entry expiration after 7 days with dependency validation on referencing streams, preventing stale regulatory paths from persisting via carry forward while requiring explicit renewal for compliance, ideal for quarterly-changing customizations with audit trails.

NEW QUESTION # 608

Scenario: A server installation fails due to path issues in HCL Workload Automation 10.2 with recent Liberty versions. What is the root cause?

- A. No entitled registry access
- B. Insufficient swap space
- C. Installation path contains spaces
- D. Missing unmask setting
- E. Docker not installed

Answer: C

Explanation:

Certain WebSphere Application Server Liberty versions used in server installations do not support paths containing spaces; ensuring a space-free installation directory prevents failures during component deployment.

NEW QUESTION # 609

Dynamic Workload Broker allocation fails 41% across HCL HWA 10.2 165 Kubernetes dynamic agents during ramp-up (6800 jobs/hour). ResourceAdvisorConfig.properties agentScoreThreshold=0.6 too restrictive. BrokerWorkstation.properties heartbeatInterval=45s shows all agents responsive. What threshold enables ramp-up completion?

- A. BrokerWorkstation.properties rampUpGracePeriod=1800
- B. ResourceAdvisorConfig.properties agentScoreThreshold=0.3
- C. ResourceAdvisorConfig.properties enGracefulRampup=YES
- D. JobDispatcherConfig.properties minEligibleAgents=50

Answer: B

Explanation:

agentScoreThreshold=0.3 lowers Dynamic Workload Broker eligibility cutoff enabling 41% failed allocations across 165 Kubernetes agents during 6800 jobs/hour ramp-up; heartbeatInterval=45s confirms agent responsiveness. Threshold reduction completes broker ramp-up versus nonexistent graceful parameters maintaining production allocation success rates.
