NEW QUESTION # 77

In SAP HANA Cloud, which tasks are handled by the cloud provider? Note: There are 3 correct answers to this question.

- A. Managing users, roles, and permissions in the database
- B. Backing up the operating system and the database software
- C. Sizing, provisioning, and monitoring the database
- D. Tuning the database to run optimally on the underlying operating system and hardware
- E. Installing, configuring, and upgrading the operating system

Answer: C,D,E

Explanation:

In SAP HANA Cloud, certain tasks are managed by the cloud provider to ensure seamless operation and maintenance of the infrastructure, which supports the SAP HANA database. The responsibilities include:

- * Tuning the database to run optimally on the underlying operating system and hardware (A): This involves adjustments and optimizations that make sure the database operates efficiently with the available resources.
- * Installing, configuring, and upgrading the operating system (C): These are typical responsibilities of a cloud provider, ensuring that the OS on which SAP HANA runs is correctly set up, secured, and kept up-to-date.
- * Sizing, provisioning, and monitoring the database (D): The cloud provider also handles the initial sizing based on requirements, provisions the database, and continually monitors its performance and health to anticipate and address any issues. Managing users, roles, and permissions within the database (E) typically remains an administrative task for the SAP HANA customers rather than the cloud provider, focusing more on business rules and governance. Backing up the operating system and the database software (B) also often falls under the responsibilities managed by the customer, depending on the service model (IaaS vs. PaaS).
