NETA Level 2 Certified Assistant Electrical Testing Specialist Sample Questions (Q38-Q43):

NEW QUESTION # 38

In ANSI/IEEE device numbering, which device best corresponds to Device 52?

- A. Differential relay
- B. Undervoltage relay
- C. Synchronizing relay
- D. AC circuit breaker

Answer: D

Explanation:

ANSI/IEEE device numbers provide a standardized way to identify protective and control functions in power systems. Device 52 designates an AC circuit breaker. It is one of the most commonly referenced device numbers on one-lines, schematics, relay settings sheets, and commissioning documentation.

NETA Level 2 technicians must be comfortable identifying device numbers because testing tasks frequently reference them. For example, when verifying breaker control circuits, interlocks, trip/close coil operation, auxiliary contacts, or anti-pump circuits, drawings may refer to "52a" and "52b" auxiliary contacts (breaker position contacts). Similarly, protection schemes may call for verifying that a relay output properly operates the 52 trip circuit.

Correct identification reduces errors during functional testing, secondary injection, and commissioning checks. Misinterpreting device numbers can lead to wiring mistakes, incorrect test points, or a failure to validate protective functions. Therefore, recognizing device 52 as the AC breaker is a core competency within Level 2 electrical testing fundamentals and component testing.

NEW QUESTION # 39

Harmonics in an electrical system increase the risk of fire and electric shock.

- A. Only when neutral conductors are undersized
- B. True
- C. False
- D. Only in high-voltage systems

Answer: B

Explanation:

Harmonics cause increased heating in conductors, transformers, and neutral paths, which can degrade insulation and increase fire risk. They can also create unexpected voltage conditions and elevated touch potentials. NETA Level 2 technicians must recognize harmonic-related risks when evaluating system performance, especially in facilities with nonlinear loads such as VFDs and power electronics.

NEW QUESTION # 40

Which procedure ensures electrical equipment is completely isolated from all available energy sources prior to testing?

- A. Grounding
- B. Lockout / Tagout
- C. Voltage verification
- D. Barricading

Answer: B

Explanation:

Lockout/Tagout (LOTO) is the formal procedure used to ensure equipment is isolated from all sources of hazardous energy, including electrical, mechanical, hydraulic, pneumatic, and stored energy. Voltage verification alone confirms absence of electrical energy but does not prevent re-energization. NETA Level 2 technicians must apply LOTO before performing acceptance, maintenance, or commissioning testing to ensure an electrically safe work condition and compliance with OSHA and NETA safety practices.

NEW QUESTION # 41

Using a typical breaker control diagram, which coil is most commonly associated with the anti-pump function?

- A. Anti-pump relay coil
- B. Closing coil
- C. Trip coil
- D. Auxiliary relay coil

Answer: A

Explanation:

The anti-pump relay coil prevents repeated closing attempts if the close command remains energized after a breaker closes and trips. This protects mechanical components and ensures controlled operation. NETA Level

2 technicians must verify anti-pump operation during control circuit testing to ensure breakers cannot continuously reclose under fault conditions.

NEW QUESTION # 42

A 1500:5 multi-ratio CT produces 400 V at the 1200:5 tap during saturation testing. What voltage is expected at the 1500:5 tap?

- A. 480 V
- B. 400 V
- C. 320 V
- D. 500 V

Answer: D

Explanation:

Voltage is proportional to the number of turns. Moving from a 1200:5 ratio to 1500:5 increases turns by a factor of:

$$1500 / 1200 = 1.25$$

$$\text{Expected voltage} = 400 \times 1.25 = 500 \text{ V}$$

NETA Level 2 technicians must accurately scale saturation test results across CT taps to verify performance and protection reliability.
