ISQI ISTQB Foundation Level - Acceptance Testing Sample Questions (Q43-Q48):

NEW QUESTION # 43

Which one of the following statements describes correctly how acceptance testing may be augmented with other test techniques or approaches?

- A. In a model-based testing approach, acceptance tests are generated from graphical or textual models.
- B. In a priority-based testing approach, prioritization of acceptance tests depends on identified product risks.
- C. In a black-box testing approach, acceptance test scenarios follow the implemented sequence of function calls in the code.
- D. In a risk-based testing approach, acceptance criteria are derived from the tester's experience and intuition.

Answer: A

Explanation:

Model-Based Testing (MBT) is a test design technique in which test cases are derived from a model that describes some aspects of the system's behavior. In the context of acceptance testing, MBT can be used to generate high-level acceptance test cases automatically from business process models, use case diagrams, state models, or decision tables.

Option A is correct because MBT supports the systematic generation of acceptance test cases from these models, enabling better coverage of business rules and workflows while maintaining traceability to the requirements.

Other options:

B is close but slightly off: prioritization of acceptance tests in a priority-based approach depends on business value or stakeholder-defined priorities, not strictly on product risks.

C is incorrect. Risk-based testing relies on structured risk assessment, not just intuition or experience.

D is false. Black-box testing focuses on inputs and outputs without referencing the internal structure (such as function calls), which is characteristic of white-box testing.

Exact Reference - ISTQB CTFL Acceptance Testing Syllabus (Section 2.3):

"Model-based testing can be used to generate acceptance test cases systematically based on models representing business processes or system behavior."

You try to unlock the situation by proposing a workshop. Which one would fit the best?

- A. You organize a day out with challenging physical exercises practiced in teams followed by an afterwork dinner and drink. After all, nothing is best for motivation than hard times together, strong common objectives and a promise of good time.
- B. You visualize all remaining major milestones of the project, starting with today and ending with project release. Then, you ask the team to identify and discuss the necessary actions to move forward from the present situation and to reach the milestones.
- C. You draw a staircase with 11 steps, each of them representing a major milestone of the project. The bottom of the stairs corresponds to the first day of the project and the upper step means that the project is released. You locate the present situation in the middle of the stairs. The team is asked to identify and discuss the major steps down and up.
- D. You ask two volunteers to play a part in front of the team. One will try to defend the project and propose positive arguments and ways forward. The other will do the opposite. You then recapitulate the major arguments of both sides and debate them openly with the team.
