NEW QUESTION # 307

A healthcare organization must follow strict compliance requirements to ensure that PII is not leaked. The cloud administrator needs to ensure the cloud email system can support this requirement. Which of the following should the organization enable?

- A. OLP
- B. ACL
- C. WAF
- D. IPS

Answer: A

Explanation:

To ensure that Personally Identifiable Information (PII) is not leaked and to comply with strict healthcare regulations, the organization should enable Data Loss Prevention (DLP). DLP systems are designed to detect and prevent unauthorized access or sharing of sensitive data, making them ideal for securing PII in cloud email systems and ensuring compliance with healthcare industry standards. CompTIA Cloud+ content covers governance, risk, compliance, and security aspects of cloud computing, highlighting the role of DLP in safeguarding sensitive information and maintaining compliance in regulated industries like healthcare.

NEW QUESTION # 308

Which of the following are best practices when working with a source control system? (Select two).

- A. Pushing code directly to production
- B. Maintaining one branch for all features
- C. Committing code often
- D. Performing code deployment
- E. Merging code often
- F. Initiating a pull request

Answer: C,E

Explanation:

Best practices when working with a source control system include merging code often to ensure that changes from different team members are integrated regularly, reducing integration issues. Committing code often is also recommended to save small changes frequently, which helps in tracking changes and resolving issues more effectively.

Reference: Source control system best practices are part of the software development and deployment guidelines discussed in the CompTIA Cloud+ examination objectives.

NEW QUESTION # 309

Two CVEs are discovered on servers in the company's public cloud virtual network. The CVEs are listed as having an attack vector value of network and CVSS score of 9.0. Which of the following actions would be the best way to mitigate the vulnerabilities?

- A. Upgrading the operating systems to the latest beta
- B. Encrypting the operating system disks
- C. Disabling unnecessary open ports
- D. Patching the operating systems

Answer: D

Explanation:

For vulnerabilities with a high CVSS score and a network attack vector, the most effective and direct mitigation action is to patch the operating systems. Patching addresses the specific vulnerabilities that have been identified and helps to secure the servers against the known exploits that could take advantage of these CVEs. ### NEW QUESTION # 310

A company hosts various containerized applications for business uses. A client reports that one of its routine business applications fails to load the web-based login prompt hosted in the company cloud.

Click on each device and resource. Review the configurations, logs, and characteristics of each node in the architecture to diagnose the issue. Then, make the necessary changes to the WAF configuration to remediate the issue.

Answer:

Explanation:

See the Explanation below for solution.

Explanation:

From the image, it's noticeable that some finance application rules are set to "Block" traffic. If the client's issue is with a finance-related application not loading the login prompt, these rules could be the cause.

The rule with ID 1005, labeled "Finance application 1", is configured to allow access to "webapp1" for finance-related paths.

However, rule 1006, labeled "Finance application 2", is set to block access to

"webapp1" for login-related paths.

To remediate the issue based on the WAF configuration you have provided, you would want to:

* Ensure that the correct paths to the finance application are allowed through the WAF.

* Modify any rules that are incorrectly blocking access to the application.

If the client's problem is specifically with the login prompt, then rule 1006 seems the most likely culprit.

Changing the action from "Block" to "Allow" for rule 1006 could potentially resolve the client's issue. The rule should be carefully reviewed and updated to ensure legitimate traffic is not being blocked while still protecting against unauthorized access.

NEW QUESTION # 311

A software engineer notices that the newest update to the reporting software includes many new features that were not defined in the requirements document. Which of the following steps should the engineer take next?

- A. Seek approval before continuing
- B. Notify the users of the new features
- C. Disregard the update
- D. Edit the requirements document

Answer: A

Explanation:

When scope changes occur, proper change management is critical. The engineer must submit the change for formal approval before moving forward. Skipping approval would violate governance processes and may introduce compliance or contractual risks.
