Archer Certified Administrator-Expert Sample Questions (Q53-Q58):

NEW QUESTION # 53
Which is NOT a valid question type in the Question Library?

- A. Attachment
- B. User/Groups List

- C. Date
- D. Values List

Answer: A

Explanation:
While the standard Archer Application Builder supports a wide array of field types, the Questionnaire module uses a more specialized subset of fields within the Question Library . According to the Questionnaires and Assessment Maintenance curriculum, questions are designed to gather specific response data that can be scored.
Valid question types include Values List (for multiple choice), Date (for timestamped responses), Numeric (for quantitative data), and Text (for qualitative comments). The User/Groups List is also a valid question type, often used to identify stakeholders or owners during an assessment. However, an Attachment is not a standalone question type in the library. In Archer Questionnaires, attachments are typically handled as "supporting evidence" linked to a specific question or the record as a whole, but you cannot define a question as an "Attachment type" in the same way you define a "Values List" question.

NEW QUESTION # 54
What will happen if the source file for a Data Import contains a row missing required field content for the target application?

- A. The Data Import logs a warning message asking the user to check the source file and processes successfully for the rest of the complete rows.
- B. The Data Import fails unless the row with the missing required field content is the last row in the file.
- C. The Data Import fails without creating or updating any content records.
- D. An administrator must process the file using administrator override.

Answer: C

Explanation:
The Data Import tool is designed for strict adherence to application business rules. According to the Archer Administration II curriculum, required fields are mandatory for the creation of any record. If a source file contains even a single row that is missing data for a "Required" field, the validation engine will trigger an error.
Unlike the Data Feed Manager , which can be configured to "Skip" errors and continue, a standard Data Import is an "all or nothing" operation by default when it encounters critical structural failures like missing required data. The import process will stop, and no records from that file will be committed to the database.
This ensures that the application does not end up with "broken" records that bypass the logic intended by the administrator. To fix this, the administrator must either populate the missing data in the source file or temporarily make the field "Not Required" in the application builder before re-attempting the import.

NEW QUESTION # 55
The HR department needs to update their business hierarchy. The most updated instance of the business hierarchy is stored in Archer. They have no direct access to Archer. As an administrator, you are asked to extract this data and load it into an external database. Which feature allows you to do so?

- A. Data Publication
- B. Data Import
- C. Data Feed
- D. Data Gateway

Answer: A

Explanation:
While the Data Feed Manager (Option C) is primarily used to bring data into Archer, the Data Publication Service (DPS) is the specific tool designed to push data out of Archer into an external SQL Server database.
As taught in the Data Integration module of Administration II, Data Publication allows an administrator to define a "Publication Task" that maps Archer applications and levels to external database tables.
This is the ideal solution for Sarah's HR request because the HR department can then point their own reporting tools or databases to that external "target" database without ever needing an Archer login. Data Gateway (Option B) is a legacy term or refers to specific API connectors, and Data Import (Option D) is strictly for ingestion. Data Publication ensures that the most recent "Golden Record" of the business hierarchy in Archer is synchronized to the external environment on a scheduled basis, maintaining data consistency across the enterprise.

NEW QUESTION # 56
Which Archer feature allows you to connect to and interact with an external data source without duplicating data into Archer?

- A. Data Import
- B. Data Feed
- C. Data Gateway
- D. APIs

Answer: C

Explanation:
This is a core concept of the Archer Data Gateway (ADG) feature. While traditional Data Feeds (Option A) and Data Imports (Option C) work by pulling a copy of external data and saving it into the Archer SQL database, Data Gateway functions differently. It provides a "window" into an external data source.
As taught in the Archer Administration II integration module, ADG allows users to view and interact with data stored in external SQL databases or other systems as if the data were inside Archer, but the information remains in the source system. This is crucial for high-volume data or sensitive information where "duplication" is prohibited by policy or storage constraints. APIs (Option D) are used to programmatically move data but still generally involve moving a copy of that data. Data Gateway is the only listed feature specifically designed for "non-duplicating" interaction.

NEW QUESTION # 57
For multi-host environments, which statement of the following is TRUE regarding the set up of the servers?

- A. A load balancer is not needed if there are more than one web server.
- B. File share can only be accessed by the web server.
- C. All Archer components exist on one server.
- D. All servers should be on the same network.

Answer: D

Explanation:
In a Multi-Host (Distributed) Environment , Archer components (Web, Application, and Database tiers) are spread across multiple physical or virtual machines to ensure high availability and scalability. According to the Archer Installation and Troubleshooting guides within the Administration II curriculum, it is a technical requirement that all servers within the Archer instance be on the same network or have high-speed, low-latency connectivity between them. This is because the Archer Control Panel (ACP) and the various services (Async, Indexing, Queuing) must communicate constantly to synchronize metadata and process jobs.
Option A is incorrect because the File Store must be accessible by both the Web and Services servers to handle attachments.
Option B describes a "Single-Host" setup, not a multi-host one. Option C is false because if you have multiple Web Servers, a Load Balancer is mandatory to distribute user traffic and provide failover. Without being on the same network/segment, the latency would cause the Archer Services to "time out," leading to job engine failures and significant performance degradation across the platform.
