- A. The individual employee is responsible for his own insurance
- B. The employer funds the workers' compensation payments
- C. The wages will continue as if the employee is still working
- D. The state pays the workers' compensation payments

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 32

All of the following validations should be performed each pay period before finalizing the payroll register EXCEPT:

- A. Compare batch totals
- B. Confirm ACH file
- C. Review negative deductions
- D. Identify zero dollar net pay

Answer: B

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed In-Depth Explanation:

Before finalizing a payroll register, validations ensure accuracy:

* Check for negative or unusual values

* Identify $0 net pay (can be a red flag)

* Compare batch totals to prevent imbalance

ACH confirmation is part of the post-processing transmission phase, not the validation of the payroll register itself.

NEW QUESTION # 33

- A. any burden for failure to pay taxes is not shared with the related corporations.
- B. each related corporation must withhold and pay social security and Medicare taxes.
- C. the related corporations cannot be treated as a single employer for FUTA tax purposes.
- D. the total FICA taxes paid are determined as if the employees had one employer paying all wages.

Answer: D

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed in-Depth Explanation:

Thus, employees working for multiple related corporations are taxed as if employed by a single employer, avoiding duplicate FICA tax.

* Applies only to FICA,not FUTA.

* Helps avoid exceeding wage base multiple times.
