- A. Switch Access: Type of port
- B. Serial interface of the router
- C. Switch Hybrid: type of port
- D. Switch Trunk type ports

Answer: C,D

NEW QUESTION # 1218

The RSTP protocol defines different port states, including Discarding and Learning. Which of the description of these two port states is correct? (Multiple choice)

- A. Ports in the Learning state do not learn the MAC address table
- B. Ports in the Discarding state do not learn the MAC address table
- C. The ports in these two states do not forward data frames
- D. Ports in the Discarding state and the Learning state do not learn the MAC address table

Answer: B,C

NEW QUESTION # 1219

BGP can select routes based on the AS_Path attribute. Therefore, in some cases, a route-policy needs to be used to modify the AS_Path attribute for route selection. Which of the following parameters can be specified in the apply as-path command for a route-policy to modify this attribute?

- A. Delete
- B. Additive
- C. Copy
- D. Overwrite

Answer: A,B,D

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed Step-by-Step Explanation:

1. Overview of AS_Path Attribute Modification:

The apply as-path command in a route-policy is used to modify the AS_Path attribute of routes. This is often required to influence the selection of routes or to adjust routing policies for incoming or outgoing BGP updates.

2. Parameters of the apply as-path Command:

Option A: Delete

* Correct.

* The delete parameter removes specific AS numbers from the AS_Path attribute. This is used to simplify or manipulate the AS_Path for specific routing policies.

Option B: Additive

* Correct.

* The additive parameter appends an AS number to the existing AS_Path attribute, instead of overwriting it. This is useful when you want to prepend AS numbers to influence route selection without removing the original AS_Path.

Option C: Copy

* Incorrect.

* The copy parameter is not supported in the apply as-path command for modifying AS_Path attributes.

Option D: Overwrite

* Correct.

* The overwrite parameter replaces the existing AS_Path with a new one. This provides complete control over the AS_Path attribute but removes the original AS_Path entirely.

3. Summary:

The valid parameters for the apply as-path command are delete, additive, and overwrite.

NEW QUESTION # 1220

When creating a single-hop BFD session for the first time, bind the single-hop BFD session to the peer IP address and the local address. To modify a configured BFD session, delete it and create a new one.

- A. FALSE
- B. TRUE

Answer: B

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed Step-by-Step Explanation:

1. Single-Hop BFD Session:

* A single-hop BFD session is used to detect link failures between directly connected devices.

* It is bound to the local IP address and the peer IP address, and the session relies on these parameters to establish connectivity.

2. Why Modifications Require Deletion:

* BFD sessions are tightly bound to their configuration parameters (e.g., local and peer IP addresses).

* Modifying these parameters is not supported for an existing session. Instead, you must delete the session and recreate it with the updated parameters.

3. Why the Statement is TRUE:

* The statement correctly describes the behavior of BFD sessions, where modifying an existing session is not possible without deleting it first.
