Questions (Q208-Q213):

NEW QUESTION # 208

Your risk management organization requires that new AWS S3 buckets must be private and encrypted at rest. How can Terraform Cloud automatically and proactively enforce this security control?

- A. With an S3 module with proper settings for buckets
- B. With a Sentinel policy, which runs before every apply
- C. Auditing cloud storage buckets with a vulnerability scanning tool
- D. By adding variables to each Terraform Cloud workspace to ensure these settings are always enabled

Answer: B

Explanation:

The best way to automatically and proactively enforce the security control that new AWS S3 buckets must be private and encrypted at rest is with a Sentinel policy, which runs before every apply. Sentinel is a policy as code framework that allows you to define and enforce logic-based policies for your infrastructure. Terraform Cloud supports Sentinel policies for all paid tiers, and can run them before any terraform plan or terraform apply operation. You can write a Sentinel policy that checks the configuration of the S3 buckets and ensures that they have the proper settings for privacy and encryption, and then assign the policy to your Terraform Cloud organization or workspace. This way, Terraform Cloud will prevent any changes that violate the policy from being applied. NEW QUESTION # 209

Which Terraform collection type should you use to store key/value pairs?

- A. Tuple
- B. Map
- C. list
- D. Set

Answer: B

Explanation:

The Terraform collection type that should be used to store key/value pairs is map. A map is a collection of values that are accessed by arbitrary labels, called keys. The keys and values can be of any type, but the keys must be unique within a map. For example, `var = { key1 = "value1", key2 = "value2" }` is a map with two key/value pairs. Maps are useful for grouping related values together, such as configuration options or metadata. References = [Collection Types], [Map Type Constraints]

NEW QUESTION # 210

terraform validate confirms the syntax of Terraform files.

- A. False
- B. True

Answer: B

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed in-Depth Explanation:

* terraform validate checks for syntax errors and internal consistency in the configuration files.

* However, it does not check if resource configurations are valid with the provider.

NEW QUESTION # 211

What is the provider for this resource?

□

- A. Test
- B. aws

- C. Vpc
- D. Main

Answer: B

Explanation:

In the given Terraform configuration snippet:

resource "aws_vpc" "main" { name = "test"
```

The provider for the resource `aws_vpc` is `aws`. The provider is specified by the prefix of the resource type. In this case, `aws_vpc` indicates that the resource type `vpc` is provided by the `aws` provider.

NEW QUESTION # 212

What is the name of the default file where Terraform stores the state?

Answer:

Explanation:

Type your answer in the field provided. The text field is not case-sensitive and all variations of the correct answer are accepted.

Terraform.tfstate

Explanation

The name of the default file where Terraform stores the state is `terraform.tfstate`. This file contains a JSON representation of the current state of the infrastructure managed by Terraform. Terraform uses this file to track the metadata and attributes of the resources, and to plan and apply changes. By default, Terraform stores the state file locally in the same directory as the configuration files, but it can also be configured to store the state remotely in a backend.
