NEW QUESTION # 72

Which of the following is NOT an objective of a business (data) glossary?

- A. Maximize search capability and enable access to documented institutional knowledge
- B. Define business units, software, and other important glossary items
- C. Improve the linkage between physical data assets and the business
- D. Reduce data misuse risk due to inconsistent management of a business concept
- E. Provide standard definitions for data and metadata

Answer: B

Explanation:

A business glossary aims to standardize data definitions and improve data usage, not to define organizational structures or software. The DAMA-DMBOK states: "The objectives of a business glossary include providing standard definitions for data and metadata, maximizing searchability, linking physical assets to business concepts, and reducing misuse due to inconsistent definitions" (DMBOK2, Chapter 11: Metadata Management, p. 445). Option E is unrelated to glossary objectives. Reference: DAMA-DMBOK2, Chapter 11: Metadata Management, Section 3.2, p. 445.
