Actual4Labs Snowflake web-based practice exam software also works without installation.

Snowflake SnowPro® Core Certification (COF-C03) Sample Questions (Q628-Q633):

NEW QUESTION # 628

Which Snowflow object does not consume and storage costs?

- A. Temporary table
- B. Secure view
- C. Transient table
- D. Materialized view

Answer: A

Explanation:

Temporary tables in Snowflake do not consume storage costs. They are designed for transient data that is needed only for the duration of a session. Data stored in temporary tables is held in the virtual warehouse's cache and does not persist beyond the session's lifetime, thereby not incurring any storage charges.

NEW QUESTION # 629

What happens when a Snowflake user changes the data retention period at the schema level?

- A. All child objects that do not have an explicit retention period will automatically inherit the new retention period.
- B. All child objects with an explicit retention period will be overridden with the new retention period.
- C. All child objects will retain data for the new retention period.
- D. All explicit child object retention periods will remain unchanged.

Answer: A

Explanation:

When the data retention period is changed at the schema level, all child objects that do not have an explicit retention period set will inherit the new retention period from the schema.

NEW QUESTION # 630

The property `mins_to_bypass_network_policy` is set at which level?

- A. User
- B. Account
- C. Organization
- D. Role

Answer: B

Explanation:

The property `mins_to_bypass_network_policy` is set at the account level in Snowflake. This setting allows administrators to specify a time frame during which users can bypass network policies that have been set on their account. It is particularly useful in scenarios where temporary access needs to be granted from IPs not covered by the existing network policies. By adjusting this property at the account level, Snowflake administrators can manage and enforce network access controls efficiently across the entire account.

NEW QUESTION # 631

Which Snowflake layer is always leveraged when accessing a query from the result cache?

- A. Cloud Services
- B. Metadata
- C. Compute
- D. Data Storage

Answer: A

Explanation:

The Cloud Services layer in Snowflake is responsible for managing the result cache. When a query is executed, the results are stored in this cache, and subsequent identical queries can leverage these cached results without re-executing the entire query.

NEW QUESTION # 632

Which statements are correct concerning the leveraging of third-party data from the Snowflake Data Marketplace? (Choose two.)

- A. Data is available without copying or moving.
- B. Data needs to be loaded into a cloud provider as a consumer account.
- C. Data transformations are required when combining Data Marketplace datasets with existing data in Snowflake.
- D. Data is live, ready-to-query, and can be personalized.
- E. Data is not available for copying or moving to an individual Snowflake account.

Answer: A,D

Explanation:

When leveraging third-party data from the Snowflake Data Marketplace, the data is live, ready-to-query, and can be personalized. Additionally, the data is available without the need for copying or moving it to an individual Snowflake account, allowing for seamless integration with existing data.

NEW QUESTION # 633
