Salesforce B2B Commerce for Developers Accredited Professional Sample Questions (Q173-Q178):

NEW QUESTION # 173

Which of these is a key pattern leveraged when building Lightning Web Components? 39m36s

- A. Juggling
- B. Composition
- C. Normalization
- D. Inventory

Answer: B

Explanation:

Composition is a key pattern in building Lightning Web Components (LWCs). This approach involves creating small, reusable components that can be assembled to form more complex interfaces. This pattern promotes modularity, reusability, and maintainability in the development of web components, aligning with web standards and best practices.

NEW QUESTION # 174

Northern Trail Outfitters (NTO) has a B2B Commerce store for its resellers. It has received many customer service calls involving questions about the delivery date of customer orders.

How should a developer expose delivery time estimates to NTO's customers in the storefront to reduce call volume?

- A. Add a Desired Delivery Date input field during the checkout flow.
- B. Display the Expected Delivery Date on the order page with a Lightning web component.
- C. Configure an email alert to the customer when the Expected Delivery Date changes.
- D. Add the Expected Delivery Date field to the order confirmation email.

Answer: B

Explanation:

To expose delivery time estimates to NTO's customers in the storefront, a developer should display the Expected Delivery Date on the order page with a Lightning web component. The Expected Delivery Date is a custom field on the Order object that stores the date when the order is expected to be delivered to the customer. The developer can use the `@wire` decorator to get the current order object and use its properties, such as order number, status, total amount, and expected delivery date, to display them on the order page. The developer can also use Apex methods or third-party APIs to calculate and update the expected delivery date based on various factors, such as inventory availability, shipping method, shipping address, and carrier service level. Displaying the expected delivery date on the order page allows the customer to see their delivery time estimate at any time and reduce their need to call customer service. Adding the Expected Delivery Date field to the order confirmation email is not a good solution, as it does not allow the customer to see their delivery time estimate if they lose or delete their email. Adding a Desired Delivery Date input field during the checkout flow is not a good solution either, as it does not guarantee that the customer's desired delivery date will be met or reflect any changes in delivery time due to unforeseen circumstances. Configuring an email alert to the customer when the Expected Delivery Date changes is not a good solution either, as it can create confusion or frustration for the customer if they receive multiple or conflicting emails about their delivery date. #### NEW QUESTION # 175

A developer has the task to create custom Lightning web components (LWCs). Which two steps must a developer take when creating custom LWCs?

- A. Authorize an org for an SFDX project.
- B. Deploy a custom component.
- C. Clone a LW
- D. Create an Apex class.

Answer: A,B

Explanation:

To create custom Lightning web components (LWCs), a developer must take two steps: authorize an org for an SFDX project and deploy a custom component. Authorizing an org for an SFDX project allows the developer to connect to a Salesforce org, such as a scratch org, a sandbox, or a production org, and use it as a development environment. Deploying a custom component allows the developer to push the LWC code from the local project to the org and make it available for use. Creating an Apex class is not a required step for creating custom LWCs, as not all LWCs need to use Apex. Cloning an LWC is not a required step either, as it is an optional way to create a new LWC based on an existing one. #### NEW QUESTION # 176

What are two purposes of the Shadow DOM in a Lightning web component?

- A. It allows direct access to the document object model of the component
- B. It encapsulates the internal document object model (DOM) structure of a web component

- C. It allows older JavaScript libraries to manipulate the tagging structure
- D. It allow components to be shared while protecting them from being manipulated by arbitrary code

Answer: B,D

Explanation:

According to the Lightning Web Components Developer Guide, Shadow DOM is a standard that encapsulates the internal document object model (DOM) structure of a web component. Encapsulating the DOM gives developers the ability to share a component and protect the component from being manipulated by arbitrary HTML, CSS, and JavaScript. Shadow DOM also provides style and behavior isolation for a web component, which means that the styles and scripts defined inside a component do not affect the rest of the page, and vice versa. Therefore, the purposes of the Shadow DOM in a Lightning web component are to encapsulate the internal DOM structure of a web component (A) and to allow components to be shared while protecting them from being manipulated by arbitrary code (B). The other options are incorrect because Shadow DOM does not allow direct access to the document object model of the component, nor does it allow older JavaScript libraries to manipulate the tagging structure (D). #### NEW QUESTION # 177

Numerous flags when set, have a direct impact on the result set provided by the Global API's. Which conversion flag allows for sObjects to be returned from the Global API's when provided as a Boolean parameter with a value of true?

- A. ccrz.ccAPISizing.SUBJECT
- B. ccrz.ccAPI.SZ_SUBJECT
- C. ccrz.ccAPISizing.SKIPTRZ
- D. ccrz.ccAPI.SZ_SKIPTRZ

Answer: B

Explanation:

The conversion flag that allows for sObjects to be returned from the Global API's when provided as a Boolean parameter with a value of true is ccrz.ccAPI.SZ_SUBJECT. This flag indicates that the API should return the raw sObjects instead of the transformed objects that are usually returned by the API. For example, ccrz.ccServiceProduct.getProducts(ccrz.ccAPI.SZ_SUBJECT,true) will return the Product2 sObjects instead of the ccrz__E_Product__c objects.
