질문 # 94

An individual asks a practitioner whether or not he should disclose his disability to a potential employer after being offered a position. One thing the practitioner recommends the individual to consider is:

- A. That the offer will be rescinded.
- B. How much detail to disclose.
- C. The right of the employer to be made aware of his disability.
- D. The relationship between the agency and that employer.

정답: B

설명:

This question falls under Domain III: Community Integration, which focuses on supporting individuals in employment settings, including navigating disability disclosure decisions. The CPRP Exam Blueprint emphasizes "assisting individuals in making informed decisions about disability disclosure, including considering the level of detail to share based on their needs and workplace context." The individual has been offered a job and is deciding whether to disclose his disability, and the practitioner's role is to guide him in weighing relevant factors.

* Option C: Recommending that the individual consider how much detail to disclose is the best guidance, as it empowers him to make an informed decision about whether to disclose and, if so, to what extent (e.g., general disability vs. specific diagnosis). This aligns with recovery-oriented principles of self-determination and the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), which does not require disclosure unless accommodations are needed.

* Option A: There is no legal "right" for an employer to be aware of a disability unless it directly impacts job performance or accommodations are requested, making this inaccurate and potentially coercive.

* Option B: Warning that the offer will be rescinded assumes a negative outcome, which is speculative and may discourage the individual unnecessarily.

* Option D: The agency's relationship with the employer is irrelevant to the individual's personal decision about disclosure and does not prioritize his autonomy or needs.

Extract from CPRP Exam Blueprint (Domain III: Community Integration):

"Tasks include: 2. Supporting individuals in making informed decisions about disability disclosure in employment settings, including the level of detail to share. 3. Promoting self-advocacy in workplace contexts."

질문 # 95

Which of the following lists best reflects positive symptoms of schizophrenia?

- A. Disorganized speech, hallucinations, delusions, disorganized behavior
- B. Hallucinations, anhedonia, poverty of speech, social withdrawal
- C. Delusions, avolition, abnormal psychomotor activity, disturbances of sleep
- D. Disorganized thinking, social isolation, flat affect, disturbances of sleep

정답: A

설명:

This question aligns with Domain I: Interpersonal Competencies, which requires understanding the symptoms of psychiatric conditions like schizophrenia to inform person-centered practice. The CPRP Exam Blueprint specifies that "positive symptoms of schizophrenia include hallucinations, delusions, disorganized speech, and disorganized behavior, which represent additions to normal functioning." Positive symptoms are distinguished from negative symptoms (e.g., anhedonia, avolition) and cognitive symptoms (e.g., disorganized thinking).

* Option A: This list accurately reflects positive symptoms: hallucinations (sensory experiences without stimuli), delusions (false beliefs), disorganized speech (incoherent communication), and disorganized behavior (erratic actions). These are hallmark positive symptoms of schizophrenia, per DSM-5 and CPRP study materials.

* Option B: Includes anhedonia, poverty of speech, and social withdrawal, which are negative symptoms, not positive, making it incorrect.

* Option C: Includes social isolation and flat affect (negative symptoms) and disturbances of sleep (not specific to positive symptoms), making it inaccurate.

* Option D: Includes avolition (a negative symptom) and disturbances of sleep (not specific), making it less accurate than Option A.

Extract from CPRP Exam Blueprint (Domain I: Interpersonal Competencies):

"Tasks include: 3. Understanding the symptoms of psychiatric conditions, including positive symptoms of schizophrenia (hallucinations, delusions, disorganized speech, and behavior), to support effective communication."

질문 # 96

What statement is the best example of an objective that is measurable and addresses observable behavior? The individual will:

- A. Increase medication compliance to 100%.
- B. Arrive to work on time four out of five days per week.
- C. Increase use of social skills related to living environments.
- D. Learn to seek help more often within the next six to eight weeks.

정답: B

설명:

This question aligns with Domain IV: Assessment, Planning, and Outcomes, which focuses on developing measurable, observable objectives in rehabilitation plans. The CPRP Exam Blueprint emphasizes that objectives should be "specific, measurable, achievable, relevant, and time-bound (SMART), with a focus on observable behaviors to track progress." The question tests the ability to identify an objective that is both measurable and tied to observable actions.

* Option B: "Arrive to work on time four out of five days per week" is specific, measurable (four out of five days), observable (on-time arrival), and time-bound (weekly). It meets SMART criteria and allows clear tracking of progress, making it the best example.

* Option A: "Increase medication compliance to 100%" is measurable but lacks specificity (e.g., timeframe or method of measurement) and may not be fully observable without detailed monitoring, making it less precise than Option B.

* Option C: "Increase use of social skills related to living environments" is vague, as "social skills" and "increase" are not clearly defined or measurable, and the behavior is not easily observable without specific criteria.

* Option D: "Learn to seek help more often within the next six to eight weeks" is not sufficiently measurable (e.g., what constitutes "more often?") and lacks clarity in observing the behavior, making it less effective as an objective.

Extract from CPRP Exam Blueprint (Domain IV: Assessment, Planning, and Outcomes):

"Tasks include: 4. Developing rehabilitation objectives that are specific, measurable, achievable, relevant, and time-bound. 5. Focusing on observable behaviors to evaluate progress toward objectives."

질문 # 97

Which of the following is included when assessing an individual's rehabilitation readiness?

- A. Establishing connections with the individual and others
- B. Assessing the individual's strengths and weaknesses
- C. Identifying potential resources for rehabilitation
- D. Identifying the desire to change at this time

설명:

Rehabilitation readiness assessment evaluates an individual's preparedness to engage in recovery-oriented goal-setting and activities. The CPRP Exam Blueprint (Domain IV: Assessment, Planning, and Outcomes) specifies that assessing readiness includes identifying the individual's desire and motivation to change, as this drives their willingness to pursue goals (Task IV.A.2: "Assess individual's stage of change and readiness for goal-setting"). Option C (identifying the desire to change at this time) aligns with this, as it focuses on the individual's current motivation and commitment, a key component of readiness often assessed through tools like the Stages of Change model.

Option A (assessing strengths and weaknesses) is part of a functional assessment, not specifically readiness.

Option B (establishing connections) relates to engagement (Domain I), not readiness assessment. Option D (identifying resources) is part of resource assessment, not readiness. The PRA Study Guide emphasizes motivation and desire to change as central to readiness assessment, supporting Option C.

질문 # 98

An individual has been using the bus to get to work, but weekend service has been eliminated. He works every other Saturday. He and the practitioner research possible options including riding with co-workers. This strategy is an example of

- A. peer support.
- B. resource coordination.
- C. resource modification.
- D. job coaching.

정답: B

설명:

Community integration involves connecting individuals with resources to maintain participation in valued roles, such as employment. The CPRP Exam Blueprint (Domain III: Community Integration) emphasizes coordinating resources to overcome barriers to community participation (Task III.C.1: "Coordinate access to community resources to support integration"). Option A (resource coordination) aligns with this, as the practitioner and individual collaboratively research alternative transportation options (e.g., riding with co-workers) to address the barrier of eliminated bus service, ensuring the individual can continue working. Option B (peer support) is incorrect, as the strategy involves practical resource exploration, not emotional or experiential support from peers. Option C (job coaching) focuses on workplace skill-building, not transportation solutions. Option D (resource modification) implies altering existing resources (e.g., changing bus schedules), which is not described, as the strategy involves finding new options. The PRA Study Guide underscores resource coordination as a key practice for maintaining community roles, supporting Option A.
