HP Aruba Certified Network Security Associate Exam Sample Questions (Q122-Q127):

NEW QUESTION # 122

Which attack is an example of social engineering?

- A. An attack exploits an operating system vulnerability and locks out users until they pay the ransom.
- B. A user visits a website and downloads a file that contains a worm, which self-replicates throughout the network.
- C. An email is used to impersonate a bank and trick users into entering their bank login information on a fake website page.
- D. A hacker eavesdrops on insecure communications, such as Remote Desktop Program (RDP), and discovers login credentials.

Answer: C

Explanation:

An example of a social engineering attack is described in option A, where an email is used to impersonate a bank and deceive users into entering their bank login information on a counterfeit website. Social engineering attacks exploit human psychology rather than technical hacking techniques to gain access to systems, data, or personal information. These attacks often involve tricking people into breaking normal security procedures.

The other options describe different types of technical attacks that do not primarily rely on manipulating individuals through deceptive personal interactions.

NEW QUESTION # 123

What is the purpose of an Enrollment over Secure Transport (EST) server?

- A. It helps admins to avoid expired certificates with less management effort.
- B. It provides a more secure alternative to private CAs at less cost than a public CA.
- C. It provides a secure central repository for private keys associated with devices' digital certificates.
- D. It acts as an intermediate Certification Authority (CA) that signs end-entity certificates.

Answer: A
