Microsoft Identity and Access Administrator Sample Questions (Q25-Q30):

NEW QUESTION # 25

You have a Microsoft Entra tenant.

You discover that a large number of new apps were added to the tenant.

You need to implement an approval process for new enterprise applications. What should you do?

- A. From the Microsoft Defender portal, create a Cloud Discovery anomaly detection policy.
- B. From the Microsoft Defender portal, configure an app connector.
- C. From the Microsoft Entra admin center, configure the Admin consent settings.
- D. From the Microsoft Entra admin center, configure an access review.

Answer: C

Explanation:

When many new enterprise applications appear in a Microsoft Entra tenant, it typically means that users are granting consent for apps to access organizational data. To control this behavior, administrators can use the Admin consent workflow, found in Microsoft Entra ID # Enterprise applications # Consent and permissions # Admin consent settings.

Microsoft documentation explains:

"The admin consent workflow allows users to request access to applications that require admin consent, providing administrators with visibility and control over which apps get access to organizational data." Enabling this workflow ensures that any new enterprise app requesting permissions beyond user-level consent must go through an approval process where an administrator can review and grant or deny access.

Options A and C refer to Defender for Cloud Apps, which detects and monitors discovered applications but does not enforce approval workflows. Option D (Access review) is used to periodically review user access, not app consent approval.
