Salesforce Certified Industries CPQ Developer Sample Questions (Q28-Q33):

NEW QUESTION # 28

Which functionality can a developer use to include or exclude an attribute picklist value based on the value of another attribute?

- A. Product configuration procedures
- B. Attribute metadata
- C. Context rules framework
- D. Object types

Answer: C

Explanation:

To control the availability of attribute picklist values based on other attributes within a product configuration, a developer should use the Context Rules Framework. This functionality allows developers to set conditions and rules that include or exclude certain options based on the values of other attributes. For instance, selecting a particular attribute value can dynamically limit the choices available in another attribute, ensuring that only relevant and compatible configurations are possible.

NEW QUESTION # 29

When you assign a time plan to a child product in a promotion, what does the time plan affect?

Note: This question displayed answer options in random order when taking this Test.

- A. When the time plan begins for the child product
- B. Which customers are eligible for the child product
- C. How long the price of the child product is changed by the promotion
- D. When the entire promotion expires

Answer: A

Explanation:

Assigning a time plan to a child product within a promotion specifically affects when the time plan begins for that child product. The time plan dictates the start of the promotion's applicability to the child product, setting the parameters for how and when the promotional conditions become effective. This timing control is crucial for managing promotional campaigns effectively, ensuring that promotions start and end at intended times, aligning with marketing strategies and customer engagement plans.

NEW QUESTION # 30

You don't set entity paths for root scopes.

- A. False
- B. True

Answer: B

Explanation:

In Salesforce Industries CPQ, entity paths are not required for root scopes. Root scopes inherently refer to the highest level of data context in a model, from which all other scopes derive their context. Therefore, setting an entity path for root scopes is unnecessary as they are already at the highest or base level of the data hierarchy.

NEW QUESTION # 31

A developer selects a smart thermostat from an account's list of assets and clicks Change to Order. While reviewing the order in the Cart, the developer notices the price of the existing asset in the Change order does not match the price that was displayed in the Service Asset Management view.

What is the reason for this discrepancy?

- A. The product's price has changed.
- B. asset has a status of Disconnect in Change orders.
- C. The asset was originally priced for a different user.
- D. One-time charges are zeroed out on Change orders.

Answer: A

Explanation:

A discrepancy in the price of an existing asset in a Change order, compared to what was displayed in the Service Asset Management view, can be caused if the product's price has changed since the asset was first recorded or last updated. In CPQ systems, product prices can fluctuate based on new pricing strategies, updates in pricing data, or changes in market conditions, which might not be reflected in the asset management view until a change order is initiated.

NEW QUESTION # 32

What does the affectivity date for a product's price list entry control?

- A. Whether an adjustment or an override can be used to discount the product
- B. Whether a pricing element is used or not
- C. Whether a pricing element can be paired with a pricing variable
- D. Whether the product displays in the Products list of the cart

Answer: D

Explanation:

The affectivity date for a product's price list entry in Salesforce Industries CPQ controls whether the product displays in the Products list of the cart. This date defines the period during which a specific price list entry is valid. If the current date falls within the affectivity date range, the product and its associated pricing are considered active and will display in the cart's product list. This helps manage the availability of products for sale based on temporal pricing strategies or promotional periods.
