VMware Cloud Foundation 9.0 Administrator Sample Questions (Q87-Q92):

NEW QUESTION # 87
A company plans to enhance its DevOps practices by implementing Kubernetes as part of a VMware Cloud Foundation (VCF) environment.
Which three steps must an administrator perform to achieve this integration? (Choose three.)

- A. Configure storage policies for Kubernetes cluster namespace consumption.
- B. Enable IaaS control plane on existing vSphere clusters.
- C. Deploy NSX to manage the networking for Kubernetes clusters.
- D. Configure Aria Automation to automate the deployment of Kubernetes clusters.
- E. Deploy HCX to migrate existing VMs to Kubernetes.

Answer: A,B,C

Explanation:
You must enable the IaaS control plane (Workload Management/vSphere Supervisor) on your vSphere clusters via SDDC Manager to provide the Kubernetes control plane.
Defining storage policies ensures that your Kubernetes Namespaces can consume persistent storage that meets application requirements.
NSX must be deployed (and an Edge cluster available) to provide networking, load balancing, and security services for the Kubernetes Pods and control plane.

NEW QUESTION # 88
Which three resources limitations that can be configured on a vSphere Namespace? (Choose three.)

- A. The amount of CPU
- B. The amount of storage
- C. The amount of services
- D. The amount of containers
- E. The amount of memory

Answer: A,B,E

Explanation:
A vSphere Namespace supports resource limits to control consumption of compute and storage resources. CPU limits define the maximum processing capacity available to workloads, memory limits control the maximum RAM that workloads can consume, and storage limits restrict the amount of persistent storage that can be allocated within the namespace.

NEW QUESTION # 89
An administrator has been tasked with creating a real-time view of key performance indicators for their VMware Cloud Foundation private cloud and an automated monthly report that shows the capacity consumed by each development team who use the environment.
Which VCF component should the administrator configure to complete their objectives?

- A. VMware Aria Operations for Networks
- B. VMware Aria Operations for Applications
- C. VMware Aria Operations
- D. VMware Aria Operations for Logs

Answer: C

Explanation:
VMware Aria Operations provides comprehensive monitoring, analytics, and performance management for the entire VMware Cloud Foundation environment. It enables real-time views of key performance indicators (KPIs) and can be configured to generate automated reports on capacity consumption, which aligns with the administrator's objectives.

NEW QUESTION # 90
An administrator must obtain an overview of all vSAN and non-vSAN datastores within a VCF environment using VCF Operations. Where should the administrator access this information?

- A. Diagnostic Findings
- B. Data Protection & Recovery
- C. VCF Health
- D. Storage Overview

Answer: D

Explanation:
The VCF Operations Dashboards Guide describes the Storage Overview dashboard:
"The Storage Overview dashboard provides visibility into capacity, performance, and health across vSAN and non-vSAN datastores. Administrators can track datastore utilization, latency, throughput, and availability from a single pane of glass." Diagnostic Findings (B) shows troubleshooting insights, not full storage details. Data Protection & Recovery (C) covers backup/replication information. VCF Health (D) focuses on SDDC Manager, vCenter, NSX, and host health, not datastore metrics.
Therefore, the required datastore overview is accessed through the Storage Overview dashboard in VCF Operations.

NEW QUESTION # 91
When troubleshooting an ESXi host that is intermittently disconnecting from vCenter, which actions might help identify the root cause?

- A. Disabling DRS and HA on the entire cluster
- B. Checking the vmkernel logs on the ESXi host
- C. Pinging the ESXi host management IP address from vCenter
- D. Verifying port connectivity on firewalls or management networks

Answer: B,C,D

Explanation:
ESXi logs contain detailed error messages, network connectivity tests (ping) can reveal latency or packet loss, and ensuring firewall ports are open is crucial. Disabling DRS and HA (C) might be a troubleshooting step in some cases, but it does not directly address connectivity issues.
