NEW QUESTION # 112

A developer creates a Lightning web component that imports a method within an Apex class. When a Validate button is pressed, the method runs to execute complex validations.

In this implementation scenario, which artifact is part of the Controller according to the MVC architecture?

- A. Apex class
- B. JavaScript file
- C. HTML file
- D. XML file

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 113

Universal Containers (UC) uses out-of-the-box order management, that has a Master-Detail relationship between Order and Order Line Item.

UC stores the availability date on each Order Line Item and Orders are only shipped when all of the Order Line Items are available. Which method should be used to calculate the estimated ship date for an Order?

- A. Use a MAX Roll-Up Summary field on the latest availability date fields.
- B. Use 2 LATEST formula on each of the latest availability date fields.
- C. Use a CEILING formula on each of the latest availability date fields.
- D. Use @ DAYS formula on each of the availability date fields and a COUNT Roll-Up Summary field on the Order.

Answer: A

Explanation:

Roll-Up Summary Field:

Since the relationship between Order and Order Line Item is a Master-Detail, a Roll-Up Summary field can be used on the Order object.

The MAX function in a Roll-Up Summary field calculates the latest date (the maximum value) among all the availability dates on the Order Line Items.

Why MAX Roll-Up Summary Field Works:

The latest availability date among the Order Line Items will determine when the entire Order can be shipped.

Why Not Other Options?

A and B: There is no such formula called "LATEST" or "CEILING" applicable to date fields.

C: A COUNT Roll-Up Summary is irrelevant for calculating dates.

NEW QUESTION # 114

Universal Containers is building a recruiting app with an Applicant object that stores information about an individual person and a Job object that represents a job. Each applicant may apply for more than one job.

What should a developer implement to represent that an applicant has applied for a job?

- A. Formula field on Applicant that references Job
- B. Lookup field from Applicant to Job

- C. Junction object between Applicant and Job
- D. Master-detail field from Applicant to Job

Answer: C

Explanation:

- * A. Junction object between Applicant and Job:
- * Since an Applicant can apply for multiple Jobs and each Job can have multiple Applicants, this is a many-to-many relationship.
- * Salesforce requires a junction object to represent many-to-many relationships. The junction object will have two master-detail relationships: one to the Applicant object and one to the Job object.
- * The junction object could be named something like JobApplication__c, which would represent the specific instance of an applicant applying for a particular job.
- * Why this is the correct approach?
- * A junction object allows for robust data management and reporting capabilities in a many-to-many relationship.
- * This design ensures that each combination of applicant and job is captured as a unique record in the JobApplication__c junction object.
- * It also allows storing additional details about the application, such as application date, status, and feedback.

Why not the other options?

- * B. Lookup field from Applicant to Job:
- * A lookup field creates a one-to-many relationship. While an Applicant could reference one Job, it does not support the many-to-many relationship required in this scenario.
- * C. Master-detail field from Applicant to Job:
- * A master-detail relationship is a one-to-many relationship, which is unsuitable for a many-to-many relationship. Additionally, you cannot have two master-detail fields on a single object to connect Applicant and Job directly.
- * D. Formula field on Applicant that references Job:
- * A formula field cannot establish relationships between records or represent a many-to-many relationship. It is only for computed fields.
