Insurance Licensing Pennsylvania Life, Accident and Health Exam Sample Questions (Q142-Q147):

NEW QUESTION # 142

Falsifying the terms, benefits, advantages, or conditions of an insurance policy is an example of which of the following?

- A. Coercion
- B. Misrepresentation
- C. Forgery
- D. Concealment

Answer: B

Explanation:

Under Pennsylvania insurance law, misrepresentation occurs when false or misleading statements are made regarding the terms, benefits, advantages, or conditions of an insurance policy. This includes exaggerating coverage, minimizing exclusions, or providing inaccurate information that influences a consumer's decision to purchase or replace a policy.

Pennsylvania Life, Accident, and Health Insurance regulations strictly prohibit misrepresentation by insurance producers, whether the statements are made intentionally or unintentionally. Such actions undermine consumer trust and violate the duty of honesty and good faith required of licensed producers.

The other options are incorrect. Concealment involves withholding material information rather than falsifying it. Coercion involves forcing or pressuring a person to buy insurance. Forgery involves falsifying documents or signatures, not policy descriptions. Because falsifying policy terms or benefits clearly fits the definition of misrepresentation, option C is the correct answer.

NEW QUESTION # 143

The responsibility for regulating the insurance continuing education requirements and approving insurance continuing education courses of instruction belongs to the

- A. Pennsylvania Insurance Commissioner.
- B. Pennsylvania Department of Education.
- C. Guaranty Association Board of Directors.
- D. National Association of Insurance Commissioners.

Answer: A

Explanation:

In Pennsylvania, the responsibility for regulating insurance continuing education (CE) requirements and approving CE courses belongs to the Pennsylvania Insurance Commissioner. Pennsylvania insurance law grants the Commissioner authority to establish licensing standards, set continuing education requirements, approve course providers, and enforce compliance for licensed insurance producers.

The Pennsylvania Department of Education has no role in regulating insurance licensing or continuing education. The Guaranty Association Board of Directors focuses on protecting policyholders in the event of insurer insolvency, not education oversight. The National Association of Insurance Commissioners (NAIC) is a coordinating and advisory organization that develops model laws and best practices, but it has no regulatory authority over individual states.

Pennsylvania-approved Life, Accident, and Health Insurance study materials emphasize that producers must complete required CE hours within each licensing period as established by the Insurance Commissioner. Failure to comply may result in license suspension or nonrenewal. Therefore, the correct and verified answer is option D.

NEW QUESTION # 144

Which policy provision protects the insurer against possible adverse selection?

- A. Reinstatement.
- B. Nonforfeiture.
- C. Suicide clause.
- D. Entire contract.

Answer: C

Explanation:

The suicide clause in a life insurance policy protects the insurer against adverse selection by stating that if the insured commits suicide within a specified period (usually two years) after the policy is issued, the insurer will not pay the death benefit but will return the premiums paid. This provision helps prevent individuals from obtaining life insurance with the intention of committing suicide shortly after, thus mitigating the risk for the insurer.

NEW QUESTION # 145

The premium mode defines the

- A. premium limit. I
- B. premium amount
- C. method of premium payment (cash or credit).
- D. frequency of the premium payment.

Answer: D

Explanation:

The premium mode in Pennsylvania insurance terminology refers to the frequency with which premium payments are made. Common premium modes include annual, semiannual, quarterly, and monthly payment schedules. Pennsylvania Life, Accident, and Health Insurance study materials emphasize that premium mode does not determine the premium amount itself but only how often the premium is paid.

The premium amount is established through underwriting factors such as age, health, policy type, and risk classification. The premium mode simply divides that amount into scheduled installments. While insurers may charge slightly higher total premiums for more frequent payment modes due to administrative costs, the definition of premium mode remains unchanged. It does not define payment limits or whether premiums are paid by cash, check, or electronic means. Therefore, option A is the correct and verified answer.

NEW QUESTION # 146

Which of the following circumstances may be grounds for suspending an insurance license?

- A. conviction of a felony
- B. failure to maintain records for 5 years
- C. failure to follow insurer's underwriting rules
- D. conviction of a summary offense

Answer: A

Explanation:

Under the Pennsylvania Insurance Department regulations governing producer licensing, a conviction of a felony is a clear and serious ground for suspension or revocation of an insurance license. Pennsylvania law emphasizes maintaining ethical conduct and trustworthiness among licensed producers, and felony convictions demonstrate a breach of those standards. As a result, the Department has authority to take disciplinary action, including suspension, revocation, or refusal to renew a license.

The other options are not sufficient by themselves to warrant suspension. Failure to follow an insurer's underwriting rules may result in internal disciplinary action by the insurer but does not automatically trigger state license suspension. A summary offense is a minor legal violation and does not typically impact licensing eligibility. Failure to maintain records for five years may result in fines or corrective action but is not an automatic ground for license suspension unless combined with other violations. Therefore, conviction of a felony is the correct and verified answer according to Pennsylvania Life, Accident, and Health Insurance licensing documentation.
