Palo Alto Networks Cloud Security Professional Sample Questions (Q97-Q102):

NEW QUESTION # 97

A customer is reviewing Container audits, and an audit has identified a cryptominer attack. Which three options could have generated this audit? (Choose three.)

- A. High CPU usage over time for the container is detected.
- B. Common cryptominer port usage was found.
- C. The value of the mined currency exceeds $100.
- D. The mined currency is associated with a user token.
- E. Common cryptominer process name was found.

Answer: A,B,E

Explanation:

In the case of identifying a cryptominer attack through container audits, the options that could have generated this audit include B. High CPU usage over time for the container is detected, which is a common indicator of cryptomining activity as it consumes significant computational resources, C. Common cryptominer process name was found, which directly indicates the presence of cryptomining based on known malicious processes, and E. Common cryptominer port usage was found, suggesting cryptomining activity based on network behavior typical of such attacks.

NEW QUESTION # 98

Which serverless cloud provider is covered by the "overly permissive service access" compliance check?

- A. Alibaba
- B. Google Cloud Platform (GCP)
- C. Azure
- D. Amazon Web Services (AWS)

Answer: D

Explanation:

The "overly permissive service access" compliance check is specifically designed to evaluate and ensure that cloud services are not granted more permissions than necessary, which could lead to potential security risks.

Among the listed options, Amazon Web Services (AWS) is known for its extensive service offerings and the complexity of its Identity and Access Management (IAM) configurations. Prisma Cloud, a comprehensive cloud security platform by Palo Alto Networks, provides extensive support for AWS, including checks for overly permissive service access. This ensures that AWS environments adhere to the principle of least privilege, reducing the attack surface by limiting access to the minimum necessary to perform required tasks.

Prisma Cloud's capabilities in AWS environments are detailed in various resources, including documentation and guides provided by Palo Alto Networks, which highlight its effectiveness in identifying and mitigating risks associated with excessive permissions in AWS services.

NEW QUESTION # 99

An S3 bucket within AWS has generated an alert by violating the Prisma Cloud Default policy "AWS S3 buckets are accessible to public". The policy definition follows:

config where cloud.type = 'aws' AND api.name='aws-s3api-get-bucket-acl' AND json.rule='((((acl.grants[?(@.grantee=='AllUsers')].size > 0) or policyStatus.isPublic is true) and publicAccessBlockConfiguration does not exist) or ((acl.grants[?(@.grantee=='AllUsers')].size > 0) and publicAccessBlockConfiguration.ignorePublicAcls is false) or (policyStatus.isPublic is true and publicAccessBlockConfiguration.restrictPublicBuckets is false)) and websiteConfiguration does not exist'

Why did this alert get generated?

- A. anomalous behaviors
- B. an event within the cloud account
- C. network traffic to the S3 bucket

- D. configuration of the S3 bucket

Answer: D

Explanation:

The alert "AWS S3 buckets are accessible to public" is generated due to the configuration of the S3 bucket, which has been set in a way that allows public access. The policy definition provided checks for various conditions that would make an S3 bucket publicly accessible, such as grants to 'AllUsers', the absence of a 'publicAccessBlockConfiguration', or specific configurations that do not restrict public access. Therefore, the alert is triggered by the configuration settings of the S3 bucket that violate the policy's criteria for public accessibility.
