NETA Level 2 Certified Assistant Electrical Testing Specialist Sample Questions (Q89-Q94):

NEW QUESTION # 89

What is the primary purpose of the National Electrical Code (NEC)?

- A. The practical safeguarding of persons and property from electrical hazards
- B. To regulate electrical worker training
- C. To establish utility interconnection rules
- D. To standardize electrical testing procedures

Answer: A

Explanation:

The NEC exists to provide practical safeguards against electrical hazards that can cause injury, fire, or property damage. It is not a design manual, testing standard, or training guide, but a safety code intended to minimize risk through installation requirements. NETA Level 2 technicians must understand that testing and commissioning activities support the NEC's safety intent. Verifying grounding, bonding, overcurrent protection, clearances, and labeling helps ensure installations meet the NEC's fundamental objective of protecting people and property from electrical hazards.

NEW QUESTION # 90

Which section of a switchboard receives power from the service section and distributes it to downstream loads?

- A. Control section
- B. Distribution section
- C. Transfer section
- D. Metering section

Answer: B

Explanation:

The distribution section of a switchboard receives incoming power from the service section and feeds branch circuits, feeders, or downstream panels. During commissioning, NETA Level 2 technicians verify continuity, torque, insulation, and protective coordination within the distribution section to ensure reliable power delivery and safe operation.

NEW QUESTION # 91

When may an unqualified person enter the Limited Approach Boundary?

- A. When escorted by a qualified person
- B. When wearing rubber insulating gloves
- C. Never
- D. When the voltage is below 600 V

Answer: C

Explanation:

The Limited Approach Boundary defines the minimum distance from exposed energized parts that unqualified persons are never permitted to cross. Entry into this space is restricted to qualified persons who understand the hazards and are trained to apply proper protective measures.

NETA safety objectives emphasize that escorting, PPE, or voltage level does not override qualification requirements. Only qualified individuals with appropriate training and authorization may enter the Limited Approach Boundary. This rule is foundational to preventing shock injuries and is strictly enforced during testing, inspection, and commissioning activities.

NEW QUESTION # 92

Using the provided diagram, what is the total circuit resistance?

- A. 8 ohms
- B. 5 ohms
- C. 15 ohms
- D. 10 ohms

Answer: D

Explanation:

Total circuit resistance depends on how resistors are connected. Based on the diagram referenced in the flash card, the combined series and parallel elements resolve to a total resistance of 10 ohms.

NETA Level 2 technicians must be able to simplify basic resistor networks to verify expected readings during troubleshooting and test setup verification. Incorrect resistance expectations often point to wiring errors, short circuits, or incorrect test lead placement.

NEW QUESTION # 93

During charging of lead-acid batteries, which explosive gas may be generated?

- A. Hydrogen
- B. Carbon dioxide
- C. Nitrogen
- D. Oxygen

Answer: A

Explanation:

Hydrogen gas is produced during battery charging due to electrolysis of water in the electrolyte. Hydrogen is highly explosive at relatively low concentrations. NETA Level 2 technicians must ensure adequate ventilation, eliminate ignition sources, and follow battery safety procedures during testing and maintenance.
