ISQI IREB Certified Professional for Requirements Engineering. Foundation Level Sample Questions (Q10-Q15):

NEW QUESTION # 10

Choose the two most important quality criteria for a requirement.

- A. Unambiguous
- B. Understandable
- C. Adequate
- D. Necessary
- E. Complete

Answer: B,C

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed Explanation From Exact Extract:

The CPRE handbook explicitly highlights adequate and understandable as the two most critical criteria for single requirements. A requirement that does not correctly reflect real stakeholder needs (not adequate) or that stakeholders cannot understand (not understandable) is useless or even harmful, regardless of how complete or unambiguous it might be. While necessary, complete and unambiguous are also valuable, they are secondary in importance. Therefore, when trade-offs are unavoidable, adequacy and understandability must be prioritized, making options A and B the correct choice.

NEW QUESTION # 11

As part of the "UniKasso" project, the "CRETIL" company is standardising the payment methods for all customers. The requirements specification has been created and the first release is currently being implemented.

This week, the management has decided to include the implementation of the "credit card" mode of payment in the first release and to shift the "direct debit" mode of payment to the second release. The test manager receives the order to adjust the test planning accordingly.

Which particular characteristic of the requirements will facilitate the work of the test manager significantly in this respect? (1 Point)

- A. Testability
- B. Traceability
- C. Coherence
- D. Stability
- E. Flexibility

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 12

Select the two typically highest abstraction levels among the following options.

- A. Stakeholder
- B. System
- C. Business
- D. Subsystem
- E. Component

Answer: A,C

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed Explanation From Exact Extract:

The abstraction hierarchy described in CPRE starts with business requirements, then stakeholder requirements, and proceeds to system, subsystem and component levels. Business requirements capture organizational goals and strategic intentions. Stakeholder requirements express what different stakeholder groups want in order to fulfill those goals. These are higher-level and less detailed than system/subsystem /component requirements, which are closer to implementation. Therefore Business and Stakeholder represent the highest abstraction levels among the options, while System, Subsystem and Component are progressively more detailed.

NEW QUESTION # 13

A new system for monitoring vital functions of patients is to be developed. The system is to be used in intensive care. The usability of the system is especially critical, primarily because the nursing staff must correctly interpret the information indicated by the system and do sounder great time pressure.

Which two techniques are best suited to identifying the user requirements? (2 Points)

- A. Questionnaires / interviews
- B. Apprenticing
- C. Field surveys
- D. Brainstorming
- E. Role playing

Answer: A,E

NEW QUESTION # 14

In requirements engineering, the use of model-based documentation is very helpful. Behaviour, functions and the structures of the entity being considered can be represented with diagrams. Which two of the following diagrams help to represent the structural perspective of the requirements model? (1 Point)

- A. Class diagram
- B. State diagram
- C. Deployment diagram
- D. Data diagram
- E. Entity-relationship diagram

Answer: A,E
